Brooklyn Girl Drowns At Tillson Lake; Body Found

Wallkill Firemen Use Inhalator in Effort to Revive Child, Age 11

Mary Narinzel, 11 years old, daughter of Joseph and Mary Bolz Narinzel of 427 57th street, Brooklyn, was drowned Tuesday while bathing at Tillson Lake, town of Shawangunk. The little girl apparently was unable to swim and stepped off into deep water not far from shore.

She was not missed for some time and although the body was recovered shortly after her presence was missed, and Wallkill firemen worked over her with an inhalator and used artificial respiration for an hour it was impossible to revive the girl. Dr. Charles W. Beattie of Wallkill pronounced the girl dead. Adam Ulrich of Wallkill was in charge of the Wallkill firemen. Father Norris of Walden administered last rites.

Mary had gone to Tillson Lake with her mother and sister, Helen, aged 8, in company with Mrs. Fred Fetter and her son Fred Jr., Mrs. Jerry D'Lag and her daughter Amy.

The little girl entered the water shortly after arrival and apparently waded out in the lake unseen. The water, Coroner Arthur Chipp said, was not deep near shore but fifteen or twenty feet out the water suddenly deepened to some extent. It is believed the girl, when she stepped off into the deeper water, became confused and lost her balance. The water at the point where she apparently went down was not over her head.

Sergeants L. Baker and J. Metzer of Highland were notified of the drowning and went to Tillson Lake. When the body was recovered Coroner Arthur Chipp was notified by Corporal Herron of Wurtsboro and went to the scene from Kerhonkson. Coroner Chipp, after an investigation, established the time of death as about 2:30 o'clock, shortly after the party had arrived at the lake.

The Narinzel family had been vacationing at the Fred Fetter home, Route 2, Wallkill.

The body was sent to Brooklyn where funeral services will be held Friday, July 8, from St. Charles Church. Burial will be in Pine Lawn, N. Y.

Coroner Chipp gave his verdict as death by accidental drowning.

Hanged at Penitentiary

Fort Madison, Ia., July 6 (AP)—Corliss R. Bruntlett was hanged at the state penitentiary here today—his 52nd birthday—for the admitted slaying of a Council Bluffs livestock dealer. Bruntlett admitted the slaying of Percy Smith, Council Bluffs, on December 8, 1947. Although he made no last statement, Deputy Warden J. E. Bennett said Bruntlett told him he was "sorry" he killed Smith.

33 Billion Gallons Of Water Drained

New York, July 6 (AP) — A month of drouth has drained 33 billion gallons of water out of New York city's reservoir system.

Commissioner Stephen J. Carney of the Water Supply Department said yesterday that the situation, while "not safe," is not yet "hazardous."

New York consumption, Carney said, is about 200,000,000 gallons a day above normal. That means the city is tapping 1,400,000,000 gallons of water every day.

The vast reservoir system, stretching far up into the Catskills, held a maximum 253,000,000,000 gallons a month ago. Now, Carney said, it holds 220,000,000,000.

Some communities upstate, Carney said, have drawn off emergency water supplies, as have farmers in reservoir areas.

Union Center Woman Shot Accidentally

Helen Guido, wife of Gabriel Guido of Union Center, was accidentally shot in the left foot at 2:45 o'clock this morning when a shotgun accidentally went off. At the Kingston Hospital it was found one toe had been shot off and a second will probably have to be amputated.

Deputy Sheriff Alfred Slater of Stone Ridge was assigned by Sheriff Smith to make an investigation and after talking with Mrs. Guido at the hospital, it was stated the accident happened when Mrs. Guido opened a door to go outside after her husband had shot at a fox from a window of the house. As she left the house the door slammed shut against Mr. Guido's back and the gun which he was carrying was accidentally discharged, the charge striking Mrs. Guido who was walking near her husband.

Sheriff Smith said the investigation made indicated that the Guidos had lost a number of chickens to foxes during the past couple of weeks. Last night they decided to keep watch and shoot the intruder. About 2:45 a. m. today Mr. Guido shot at a fox from a window while Mrs. Guido held a light. She then started to open the door to go out when it struck Mr. Guido as he followed, carrying the gun barrel down. The shot struck her left foot. From the investigation thus far made and based on Mrs. Guido's story, Sheriff Smith said the shooting was accidental.

Wire Tappers Guilty

New York, July 6 (AP)—Three men, two of them private investigators, were found guilty last night of illegally tapping telephone wires to get information for use in a divorce suit. A fourth defendant was acquitted. An all-male Kings County Court jury returned the verdict shortly before midnight after six hours deliberation. The four men were arrested last March 28, after telephone conversation evidence had been offered in a divorce suit in which Louis Appelbaum, 49, a fuel oil dealer, accused his wife of adultery.

Mental Tests Given

Syracuse, N. Y., July 6 (AP)—A 30-year-old father who left two of his children on a lonely river island for 24 hours undergoes mental tests today. Donald Frazier of Port Jervis was committed to Syracuse Psychopathic Hospital yesterday for examination. Judge Leo J. Yehle, who signed the commitment order, postponed further court action until July 26, pending a report from the hospital.

Tree Company Pays $500 Fine; Poison Killed 400 Trout

Conservation Department Says Bartlett Aides Violated State Statute

Investigation as to the cause of trout being killed in the Sawkill creek at Woodstock on June 2, has resulted in the payment of a $500 fine to the State Conservation Department by the Bartlett Tree Expert Company of Stamford, Conn., for violation of the conservation law in allowing poisonous substances in quantities sufficient to kill fish to enter the creek. Is is estimated 400 trout were killed.

On June 2, a quantity of trout were found dead in the Sawkill at Woodstock and the matter was referred to the local office of the Conservation Department, State Trooper Ray Dunn and Supervisor Kenneth Wilson who is also president of the Ulster County Federation of Sportsmen.

A quick and thorough investigation was made by District Inspector William J. Goodman of the local conservation office. Assisting were Game Protectors Philip Gillen, Roger Fredenburgh of Kingston and Trooper Dunn of Phoenicia. Also aiding in the investigation were department technicians who made tests and anaylsis of the water. Valuable assistance was given by Supervisor Wilson and as

A.P. Revises Its Death Toll to 711

(By The Associated Press)

The nation's accidental death toll over the Fourth of July holiday—a record breaking 711—was "shameful and disgraceful" says The National Safety Council.

An error in tabulation yesterday resulted in transmission of the total 1949 July 4 holiday fatalities as 813. This was revised downward to 676, as of that hour, after a recheck.

The 711 killed in violent accidents over the three-day period was the highest ever reported for a Fourth of July holiday and near the record for any holiday period.

The final count in the state-by-state survey showed 315 traffic fatalities, 256 drowning, and 140 killed from miscellaneous causes. The tabulation covered a period from 6 p. m. last Friday to midnight Monday.

The nation's heaviest accidental death toll for a holiday period was 761 for four days in Christmas week of 1936. Of the total, 555 were killed in traffic mishaps. The previous high for the Independence Day holiday was 628 in 1941.

Basketball Was Only Profit Sport at K.H.S. in 1948-49

Basketball for the 1948-49 season brought in a total profit of $3,091.21 to keep the Kingston High School Athletic Association out of the red and was the only sport which showed a net profit.

Football which usually brings in a substantial sum showed a deficit for the year of $648.34. This was partially due to bad weather, the playing of the annual Thanksgiving game at Newburgh and the cost of transporting the team and band by bus, and insurance carried on the players.

The annual financial statement of the Athletic Association for the year July 1, 1948 to June 30, 1949 was as follows:

Cash balance June 30, 1948	$ 4,313.52
Receipts 1948-49	14,678.70
Total receipts	$18,992.22
Disbursements July 1, '48 to June 30, '49	$14,563.56
Balance June 30, 1949	$ 4,428.66

This is a net gain of $115.14 for the year.

Football took in a total of $4,376.96 and payments made amounted to $5,025.30. Deficit $648.34.

Basketball shows receipts of $5,842.70 and payments of $2,961.66 for a net of $1,881.04 on games and concession brought in $577 with $366.83 disbursements for a profit of $210.17 or a total profit for basketball of $3,091.21.

Varsity and Junior baseball brought in a total of $84.95 with payments amounting to $1,187.66. The total amount for admissions to baseball games was $67.95.

Tennis payments amounted to $99.60 with no receipts.

Total receipts for track were $50.70 and payments amounted to $987.10. Deficit $936.40.

In the miscellaneous account sale of letters, etc., brought in $8.75 and payments for dues, medical supplies, travel, etc.,

Republican Calls Pact Vital Action

Michigan Senator Opens Second Day of Debate With Statement Reds Are After U. S.

Raps Communism

Vandenberg Declares 'Precious Values' Are in Jeopardy

Washington, July 6 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg of Michigan today asked the Senate to ratify the North Atlantic Pact as a shield for free men against "embattled, greedy Communism."

He opened the second day of debate on the 12-nation alliance with the double-barreled statement that (1) Communism is the sole threat to world peace and (2) its final target is the United States.

The treaty will be a warning to would-be conquerors, Vandenberg said in his prepared-in-advance text, that 300,000,000 people will resist aggression.

As Republican leader in foreign affairs, he added the weight of his prestige to that of Senator Connally (D.-Tex.) who led off in the debate yesterday.

As Vandenberg spoke, Senate leaders saw a good chance to win final approval of the treaty in less than a week of debate. They were encouraged by a general lack of opposition to the pact and its stated purpose of heading off any attack on the western non-Communist world. A two-thirds vote of approval by the Senate is needed to bind the U. S. to the treaty.

Vandenberg called the treaty "the best available implement to discourage armed aggression and thus to stop another war before it starts."

And then he turned to Communism. He said the world's "precious values" are in jeopardy in today's "tortured world."

"This jeopardy does not stem from us," he went on. "* * * No, Mr. President, it stems from embattled, greedy Communism abroad and at home."

Vandenberg declared that "open conspiracies" are aimed ultimately at the United States.

"We cannot run away from it," he told the Senate. "There it is, pact or no pact. * * * We are the final target, though other independent peoples are in nearer jeopardy."

The treaty is designed to minimize the threat of this jeopardy, Vandenberg continued, adding:

"Much as we might crave the easier way of lesser responsibility, we are denied to the privilege, we cannot turn back the clock * * * We have no choice as to whether we shall play a great part in the world. We have to play that part. We have to play it in sheer defense of our own self-interest. All that we can decide is whether we shall play it well or ill."

Vandenberg agreed with Connally that a vote for the treaty will not commit any senator to vote for the proposed program to re-arm the pact nations.

The proposed arms plan face far tougher opposition than the treaty. President Truman is expected to send the arms program to Congress after the pact is ratified.

Vandenberg said the real strength of the treaty lies in the "potential" military might of the 12 pact nations—not in the limited arms aid that is planned.

"In my view," he said, "the pact's invincible power for peace is the awesome fact that any aggressor upon the North Atlantic

Firemen Rescue Woman Marooned on Rock

Using ladders and ropes, firemen work to rescue Martha Treml, 25, who was marooned on a rock which she grasped as she was being swept over a falls in the Potomac river near Great Falls, Va. Miss Treml had gone to a park for an outing when she apparently slipped and fell into the river. She managed to grasp a rock and pulled herself from the water. Firemen, called by witnesses to the accident, finally effected the rescue by using extension ladders. (A.P. Wirephoto)

Another Hearing Slated on Airport Lease at Wallkill

Public Will Be Heard Relative to County Leasing Land for Manufacturing

Eastern Flight Corporation and Eastern Industries Corporation have renewed their offer to lease certain portions of the Wallkill Airport, town of Shawangunk, and a public hearing has been called by Chairman Cluett Schantz of the Board of Supervisors for July 19 at 7:30 p. m. in the court house.

At that time the public will be given an opportunity to be heard on the matter. Under the county law a public hearing must be held before county owned land of this nature can be leased for private use.

A public hearing was held on June 1 on the application of the same firms for leasing a portion of the airport which the county took over from the War Assets Administration at the close of the war. Opposition to the leasing of the land was expressed at that hearing by several citizens and as a result the offer of the firms was withdrawn.

An official of the corporations, stated the company did not wish to locate in any community where there might be a hostile feeling. The firms contended they would give employment to many residents of the area and the opposition expressed by residents of the locality was that the plant might give off offensive odors. This was denied by the firm management.

The airport which is now county owned, was one of the auxiliary airports to Stewart Field during the war.

May Have Said It

New York, July 6 (AP)—A Communist conspiracy trial defendant said today he may have said in 1936 that, if Russia were attacked, "we will defend the Soviet Union by turning the imperialist war into a civil war," U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGohey pressed the witness, Gilbert Green of Chicago, for 20 minutes before the defendant admitted "I may have said that—it was in 1936." Defense attorneys objected strongly to the questions. They were asked in a continuation of a courtroom battle of wits which began last Thursday when McGohey started to cross-examine Green.

Flanders Scouts Recession

Washington, July 6 (AP)—Senator Flanders (R-Vt.) said today the only real danger to the nation's economy is the possibility of businessmen "frightening themselves into a recession." The Vermonter, who used to be a manufacturer, expressed the hope that President Truman will address a "darn good pep talk" to merchants and manufacturers in the economic report he is scheduled to send to Congress soon.

Britain Is Down To Last Billion

Cripps Tells Commons Development Is Serious

London, July 6 (AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps said today Britain is down to her last $1,624,000,000 in gold and dollars.

Cripps told the House of Commons this fall in the nation's working capital for trade with dollar areas is "a serious development."

He said the drain on the dollar reserves in the three months ended June 30 was $628,000,000, compared with only $324,000,000 in the first quarter of the year.

Cripps said the main reason is "a considerable falling off in our sales to the United States."

"A drain upon our reserves at present rate calls for immediate corrective action as well as for longer term and more fundamental measures."

As a first step, he said, all purchasing departments of British government have been told to postpone dollar buying wherever possible.

"Existing contracts and commitments will remain in force," Cripps said, but specific authority will be required for any new dollar purchases and will only be given where a clear case of urgent national interest is established."

He continued:

"Dollar expenditure other than on imports will only be permitted where essential and then at a reduced rate.

"Unless the sterling area succeeds in restoring the volume of its sales to the dollar area these restrictions upon dollar expenditures will have to be continued."

Council Approves Budget Drawn by Education Board

Several Changes Are Authorized in Local Traffic by City Aldermen

Common Council action last night approved the city's school budget, authorized several changes in local traffic regulations and opened the way for possible legislation against recently protested "smoke nuisances."

The school budget was unanimously approved, but Fourth Ward Alderman John Buboltz (D) said he was voting for it only because he felt that opposing it was like "hitting my head against a blank wall."

The budget calls for raising $490,246.06 locally and fixes the school tax rate at $15.28.

Buboltz, apparently referring to controversy over the budget a year ago, said "we asked for an itemized bill and never got it," and he was opposed to the budget as presented with its provision for a new school building that will "cost almost $100,000."

The Fourth Ward alderman is a member of the finance ways and means committee which reported favorably on the budget. He signed the report, he said, because he saw nothing to be gained at the time by protesting.

Recommendations of the traffic control committee, which were largely on city traffic changes, also included the proposal that parking meter collections formerly made by a member of the police department, now be made by the meter repair man.

William Ballard, who services meters, has been making the collections in recent weeks, and the committee report said this practice appeared to be "satisfactory and relieved police officers of the

Merchant Mariner Declares He Killed Two in California

Eureka, Calif., July 6 (AP)—A husky, 34-year-old merchant mariner and ex-convict surrendered last night in a signed statement admitted the fourth of July bludgeon slayings of two men in a cabin overlooking the Valley of the Moon.

The man, Henry Brun Guldbrandsen, gave himself up to Ed Neumeier, a cub reporter, and Elmer Hodgkinson, editor of the Humboldt Times.

In a long, wandering statement, he for the most part corroborated the hysterical tale told by Mrs. Eva Paget, 27-year-old mother of two. Her story of rape and murder set off one of the most intensive manhunts in recent northern California history.

But Guldbrandsen denied he had raped Mrs. Paget, a Berkeley woman who had been vacationing in Jack London's told territory 200 miles south of here in the Sonoma Valley. Guldbrandsen said she had submitted to him to "soothe" him, after he had bludgeoned her.

In the Sonoma Hospital where she is in a critical condition from the attack and beating, Mrs. Pagent reiterated she had been raped. And hospital attaches commented on Guldbrandsen's assertion: "That's ridiculous!"

Guldbrandsen signed a statement, first for the newspaper and later for the sheriff's office, admitting slaying his friend, Lt. Peter Flint, 31, of the Merchant Marine, and Flint's longtime friend, Peter J. Jensen, 55, landscape gardener for the Sonoma State Hospital.

The nude bodies of Flint and Jensen, covered by sheets, were

Mayor Cites Project as Growth Key

Some in Audience Show Dissatisfaction, Tell Aldermen 'See You in November'

Pleads for Needy

Newkirk Points to Those Who Lack Adequate Homes

Kingston's state-approved $1,200,000 housing project was killed definitely last night in the standpat silence of dissenting councilmen following Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk's final plea for action before the state's July 15 deadline.

Housing for industrial growth and to offset "mounting unemployment," were stressed by the mayor, who said he appeared before the Common Council at its regular monthly session in compliance with a special charter provision.

The plea held that Twelfth Ward Alderman James E. Murphy (R) and "the six Democratic aldermen," under rules of the Common Council were alone empowered to act for reconsideration of the housing proposal, and it urged another vote on the housing application.

The six Democratic aldermen had previously failed to vote for a favorable report of the Finance Ways and Means Committee and Alderman Martin voted against it. Action of the same last month resulted in a vote for a referendum on the proposal, and both state and local legal opinion ruled the step inacceptable under provisions of the state housing laws.

Mayor Newkirk's plea was the only introduction of housing at last night's session, and several among an audience of about 30 persons expressed dissension at the end of the meeting at lack of opportunity to air the proposal from the floor.

The quiet "thumbs down" on housing last night marked the end of an issue which gave rise to the stormiest sessions in the history of the city's legislative body and produced the largest public hearing locally on any single proposal of community interest.

Staunchest dissenters were residents and property holders nearest the proposed 12th Ward project site and their objections were voiced in the many sessions by Alderman Martin.

The Democratic members of the council took the stand that they were not opposed to housing but were opposed to "slum clearance," or the offsite demolition of buildings, and preferred housing developments in several rather than any one ward, but these were held contrary to present state housing provisions and policy.

Reports 278 Cards

Although he made no official report on postcards received from residents of the Fourth Ward in favor of the housing project, Alderman John Buboltz told a number of trades union members and others after the meeting that he had received 278 in return from 1,150 circulated through the two districts.

"It's a fair and actual count, so help me," he said when asked why he hadn't let the cards go through the city clerk's office instead of having them directed to his home. The postals printed and sent out without his consent were addressed to him in care of the city clerk's office, but he had the postal department deliver them to his residence instead.

"Results show the people of the Fourth Ward are against the housing project," he remarked, "and I'm carrying out their wishes in opposing it."

Mayor Newkirk delivered his plea at the start of last night's session and then left the council chamber. Several in the audience said after the meeting that they had expected further comment or discussion of the housing proposal, and were surprised when none developed.

Some expressed their dissatis-

Over 3,000 Visit Naval Vessels Over the Holiday

The U.S.S. Jeffers and the U.S.S. Irex played host to large crowds estimated at about 3,000 over the July Fourth week-end. Steady streams of visitors went aboard both ships, which visited Kingston in connection with the Independence Day celebration.

The men from the Irex renewed many old acquaintances in town and joined with the men from the Jeffers in attending all of the fine ball games at the Municipal Stadium. Mr. Laviano was kind enough to extend invitations to all personnel board both vessels to see these ball games without any charge.

Through the courtesy of Dr. Mandell and Dr. Ploss, the Elks Club was open to all of the men aboard both vessels and refreshments and sandwiches were served to the men in uniform free of charge. At the Elks Club the men played shuffle board, billiards and enjoyed themselves tremendously.

Saturday evening, the night the ships arrived, the Lions Club entertained both captains and several officers at a steak dinner at the Twaalfskill Club. The dinner was exceptionally well arranged and the food was outstanding. Mayor Newkirk at this time officially welcomed them to this city. Present at the dinner were Mayor and Mrs. Oscar V. Newkirk, Major Theodore R. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Groves, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bohan, Judge and Mrs. Francis Martocci and Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. Gottfried. Preceding the dinner a get-together party was held at the Gottfried home.

Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. John T. Groves entertained guests at an outdoor picnic in honor of both captains, at their home in Port Ewen. The terrace was covered with canvas, which made both captains feel as though they were aboard their own ships. Needless to mention everyone felt very comfortable because of the cool breeze blowing through the terrace. Mr. Groves acted as the chef and did a grand job.

During the day Judge Martocci took Captain Voegelin and several of his officers for a tour through the country. They went over the Palenville Mountain and through Tannersville, and had a very scenic ride.

The last night of their stay, both captains and their officers attended the play, "Anna Lucasta," at the Woodstock Playhouse. Mr. Linenthal was extremely gracious in acting as their host. On Monday Captain Robinson of the Irex entertained members of the Kingston Naval Reserve Committee at a delicious luncheon. The chef prepared some highly interesting and tasty salads with an oriental touch. That evening Captain Voegelin of the Jeffers invited several members of the committee for dinner aboard the ship. He returned the compliment by having a fine steak dinner, which was enjoyed tremendously.

The committee would like to thank Amos Newcombe and Robert Teetsel for their steadfast and constant cooperation.

Ernest Rowe, who is employed by Canfield Supply Company, served aboard the U.S.S. Jeffers during the war years. He joined with other members of the committee at Poughkeepsie and rode The Jeffers up to Kingston. He met several of his old friends and entertained them in town.

Movies at Cornell

This evening at 9 o'clock in Cornell Park the Recreation Department following its accelerated picture program will show a new film entitled "Ellery Queen Strikes Back." William Gargan as Ellery Queen is excellently supported by Margaret Lindsey and Charley Grapewin in this fast moving mystery. A short subject entitled "Star Gazers will precede the feature. The short subject is historical in nature, dealing with the discoveries of the great Galileo the astronomer.

Health for All

Poison Ivy

With the first days of summer here, hikes and picnics are very much in order. It's fine to get out in the fresh air and indulge in some healthful exercise, but a hike or a picnic isn't always an unmixed blessing. There are sometimes blistered feet, aching muscles, ants in the picnic baskets—and, poison ivy.

Poison ivy is a pretty but vicious plant or vine, and it always seems to nestle around the pleasantest hiking paths or most comfortable picnic grounds. But the plant produces a poisonous, oily resin that irritates the areas of skin with which it comes in contact. Shortly after exposure, the portion of the skin which it has touched begins to itch and burn and a blister-like rash breaks out. The skin irritation that results from poison ivy is always extremely uncomfortable.

If a person gets a case of poison ivy, he should see his doctor immediately. The doctor will give him medical treatment to bring relief from the itchy inflammation.

If the case is mild, the infected area should be washed with soap to remove the oily resins that cause the irritation. Creams and ointments can do harm because many of them contain ingredients that can further irritate and spread the rash.

A mild case of poison ivy usually lasts about ten days. More severe cases may last as long as three weeks.

Wise parents caution their children against poison ivy, especially around this time of year, and teach them to identify it by description and pictures. Poison ivy is fairly easy to recognize with its green leaves which have a smooth, glossy surface and grow in groups of three.

The same irritating oil produced by poison ivy is found in poison sumac, a shrub or small tree, whose leaves run in a series of four to six. Poison sumac is less well-known and more difficult to detect than poison ivy, and its effects may be more severe. The treatment is the same as for poison ivy because they are similar types of skin irritations.

SELF-RELIANCE FACES EXTINCTION

Fortune magazine's recent survey of college campuses shows graduating students more worried about old-age pensions and similar security safeguards than anything else in their future.

Add to these protections a job with a big, established company and a wife and a few children and you have what most college men in their twenties are seeking today.

It is alarming to realize that security-mindedness has gone so far down the age ladder that it now tends to dominate the thinking of our college youth.

It is too easy and too trite, however, to respond to this situation with the regular exhortations to self-reliance, and then let it go at that. The problem isn't that simple.

These youngsters have come of age in a world still staggering from the brutal blows of two world wars and a deep depression. The dilemmas that led to these disasters are still largely unsolved. The complexities of life, whether in war or peace, seem to have grown beyond man's comprehension.

While man nevertheless gamely continues the search for solutions, he is trying at the same time to insulate himself against a recurrence of disaster. This has been true in many areas of the earth.

This country's effort to protect its people against catastrophe was propelled swiftly forward by Franklin D. Roosevelt's program of social legislation in the 1930's.

Republicans fought the program at the time, but historians today say social and economic conditions were such that either major party probably would have had to find bold new answers to the call for security.

Since then, a struggle to widen the domain of secure living has waxed and waned, and it is still going on. But nothing has happened, or seems likely to occur, to upset the basic security framework of the country.

It draws its main strength from a mood born of haunting fear of another great depression. And the terrific dislocations of war and postwar years have lined up many more recruits under the security banner.

This is the atmosphere breathed by college students in 1949. It should enable us to understand how they can be thinking of pensions and a safe job instead of adventurous risk-taking.

But it should shock us anew into realizing that in all this necessary attention to security measures we have indeed ignored the vital need to build a society of resourceful individuals.

How to have security and self-reliance side by side is admittedly a hard nut to crack. But the evidence indicates that most politicians are not even facing the problem earnestly. It is high time they stopped ducking it.

We owe to the masses of men a higher duty than merely to make them secure against disaster and basic want. We owe them a life where the human spirit is free and eager to grow to its fullest height, where the sum of that individual growth will be a society of constantly widening economic and social horizons.

THE WAITING ROOM

Several years ago a visitor to a New York City hospital was struck by the hopeless attitude of patients sitting in the clinic waiting room, waiting for treatment. Through her efforts workshops were set up where such patients could spend part of their waiting time at useful occupations. The experiment proved a success not only in occupying their time, but in helping them toward recovery.

It's a fine idea, and it ought to spread far and wide. And along with it ought to go some idea for the other waiting room—the one where the physically well but mentally anguished friends and relatives of patients wait for a word.

With both Democrats and Republicans holding conferences of party leaders in the Farm Belt, the general impression is that already an energetic battle is brewing between the two parties for the farm vote in the next congressional elections. The material for the battle is to be found in various proposals for federal programs to manipulate farm income and production.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE IMMUNE

The 79th Congress, under pressure from the State Department, passed a law (Public Law 291) granting extraterritoriality to "international organizations" and those associated with them. This law does not apply to the United Nations alone. It may be applied to any "international organization" or to all of them, even if they number legion.

The test of the worthiness of an "international organization" is that the United States joins it by treaty or by act of Congress. Then the president may issue an Executive Order, stipulating that such and such an "international organization" shall enjoy "the privileges, exemptions and immmunities" provided in this bill. In this case of the United Nations, that involves going through red lights and knocking down American citizens with impunity. The president may withhold or withdraw the privileges, etc., or limit them.

Why the 79th Congress was so general about this is not important. The 80th Congress, by Public Law 357, more clearly specified the United Nations so that nobody could mistake that these immunities applied to those attached to the United Nations and not, let us say, to the International Red Cross or the Olympic games committee or some such useful organization.

Now, let us see what Public Law 291 grants to these "international organizations": They may write contracts, acquire and dispose of real and personal property and institute legal proceedings. In other words, they can legally do what anybody else can do legally.

However, they may not be sued, even if they entered upon a contract, nor can they be held accountable in our courts for their conduct, unless they "expressly waive their immunity for the purpose of any proceedings or by the terms of any contract."

In other words, whereas United Nations personnel or that body itself can go into any American court to sue an American citizen, no American can go into a court to sue them or the United Nations without its consent. American contractors, doing business with the United Nations, take that risk unless their lawyers succeed in including a waiver of immunity in their contracts. Incidentally, this holds for insurance, so that such matters as liability and damage insurance and compensation need not apply to United Nations personnel or jobs without the consent of that body. Any American who does business with the United Nations should check with a competent lawyer the application of Public Laws 291—79th Congress and 357—80th Congress as to his rights and protections under the laws.

The law goes further. It relieves the United Nations and any international organization, as stipulated above, from customs duties and internal revenue taxes. And it goes still further, by eliminating all procedures concerning duties and taxes, so that if there is a difference of opinion, it does not go to the courts but becomes a subject for prolonged and sub-rosa negotiations between the United Nations and the State Department. In a word, when the tombstone-designed building of the United Nations is erected on the East River, it would be possible for that body or anyone delegated to it or associated with it to import duty-free commodities and to sell them on its premises in competition with Americans who are required to pay duties and taxes.

Such UN persons, representing more than 50 nations, could import opium, cocaine, morphine, or anything else and dispose of them on the premises without being subject to "procedures" enacted by Congress or by state legislatures. In fact, Public Law 291 frees these people from the usual baggage inspection, customs duty, etc., except that the Commissioner of Customs is to draw up regulations to see to it that they get through unmolested. This not only applies to representatives, but also to "the families, suites and so vants."

I saw that work in Shanghai, particularly as it applied to arms running. Foreign diplomats, with the support and connivance of their governments, immediately after World War 1, sold surplus war materials to every warring faction in China. In fact, it used to be said in Peking that China's purchases paid for Italy's war. There was an international agreement imposing an embargo on such arms, but there was money in the business and immunity for those who engaged in it.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

SCABIES—THE ITCH

While we do not read or hear much about it, scabies (the itch) is not uncommon and requires faithful daily care by the patient if cure is to be obtained within reasonable time. It is caused by a tiny organism, the itch mite, which burrows into the skin, and lays its eggs. These eggs hatch and the tiny mites come out on the surface of the skin and live on scales and crusts until they are fully developed. These mites can be transmitted to others from clothing, beds, and personal contact.

The first symptom is itching in spot on the skin where the itch mite started its burrowing, later the itching occurs where there is warmth and moisture—under arms, under breasts, in groin, buttocks, ankles, feet, toes, fingers. The little burrow is about one-eighth to one half of an inch long.

For many years sulphur has been the usual treatment in institutions and hospitals. A hot bath is given and patient remains in bath for half an hour while he is scrubbed with soap from shoulder blades down over the rest of the body especially under finger nails and toes and in all the "creases" of the body. Sulphur ointment is then applied over entire body except head and neck. This ointment is washed off in the hot bath and then fresh ointment applied. This whole process should be carried on twice a day for six days.

Unfortunately some individuals are allergic or sensitive to sulphur and it irritates the skin as do some of other ointments of tar and balsam of Peru. For this reason and because those ointments are "messy", Drs. Harry M. Robinson, Jr., and Harry M. Robinson, Baltimore, in The Southern Medical Journal report results from a new formula combining benzyl benzoate with tyrothricin, benzocaine, and ethyl alcohol. It will be remembered that benzyl benzoate was used more than any other one drug to cure scabies in World War II.

Patients were instructed to open blisters and remove crusts, bathe and rub the solution over the entire body from neck to toes. Application of the solution was repeated twice daily for two successive days, after which the warm soap and water bath was repeated.

While this sulphur treatment requires six days and twelve applications, this method of the Drs. Robertson required but two days and four applications. Scabies treatment should be under the supervision of your family physician, not only because the treatment must be carried out correctly and faithfully, but because of complications caused by scratching.

Remember When It Used to Make You Drool?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington—Senator Fulbright's probe of lobbying inside the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has unearthed a long list of R.F.C. officials who have resigned to take jobs with companies securing R.F.C. loans.

The Arkansas senator began his probe after this column exposed the fact that two important R.F.C. officials had joined the Waltham Watch Company of Massachusetts and the Plywood Plastic Corp. of Hampton, S. C., after recommending that these companies receive loans.

To remedy this, Senator Fulbright has introduced legislation whereby no R.F.C. official can join a company receiving an R.F.C. loan until two years after the loan is granted.

Meanwhile Fulbright's banking and currency subcommittee has dug up the following R.F.C. officials who went to work for the same companies for which they recommended loans.

E. Merl Young, R.F.C. examiner, recommended a $10,000,000 loan to Lustron Corporation of Cleveland, then went to work for the company at more than double his R.F.C. salary.

A. H. Graham, assistant manager of the Richmond R.F.C. office, recommended several loans exceeding $2,000,000 for Baltimore Contractors, Inc., then was hired by the same company at a salary increase of $5,000.

James C. Windham, an R.F.C. administrative assistant, became treasurer of the F. L. Jacobs Co. of Detroit after it had received over $3,000,000 in government loans.

Joseph M. Ryan, chief of small business loans in Helena, Mont., went to work for the Custom Tire, Inc., of Billings, Mont., at double his R.F.C. salary after recommending a $50,000 loan.

More R.F.C. Loans

Others who left R.F.C. to work for companies receiving R.F.C. loans are: L. C. Andrews, former manager of the San Antonio R.F.C. office, hired by the Transport Company of Texas; A. Ben Shallit, R.F.C. engineer, hired by Usibelli Coal Mines, Inc., of Suntrana, Alaska; Louis B. Duquette, district loan agent, hired by the Hyde Corporation of Fort Worth, Tex.; Howard Gage, examiner, hired by the Dougherty Lumber Company of Cleveland; Carl J. Grosswendt, R.F.C. examiner, hired by the Federal Telephone and Radio Corp. of Clifton, N. J.

In addition, Arthur F. Hackney, R.F.C. examiner, was hired by the U. S. Sugar Corp. of Clewiston, Fla.; Benjamin McNeil, assistant chief of the R.F.C.'s Administrative Division, hired by South Dade Farms of Homestead, Fla.; Chester Neilson, R.F.C. plant examiner, hired by Statz Manufacturing Company of Chicago; Otis Radford, examiner, hired by the Eddy Shipbuilding Co. of Kelthsburg, Ill.; Leslie Widner, examiner, hired by the Oran Company of Columbus, Ohio.

Three R.F.C. officials also went to work for banks in which R.F.C. had invested. They are: China R. Clarke, manager of the Minneapolis R.F.C. office, who was hired by the National Bank of St. Paul; Edward B. Concannon, examiner, hired by the First National Bank of Lindenhurst, N. Y.; and John L. Kroeger, examiner, hired by the Dairyland State Bank of Minneapolis.

Note—Most R.F.C. employes are conscientious public servants and approve of Fulbright's measure. Actually there has been less embezzlement in R.F.C. than in most private banks, though they handle only a fraction as much money.

Truman and Taft-Hartley

Chances of Taft-Hartley repeal have gone a-glimmering this session, but President Truman is confident the next session will tell a different story.

"Those fellows who fought the repeal bill are going to find out that the people still want it when they get back home," Truman told Harvey Brown, outgoing president of the Machinists' Union, and his successor, Al Hayes.

"We've lost a battle, but we're going to win the war," predicted Brown. "Labor has some unfinished business between now and the next session with the members of Congress who have gone back on their campaign promises to the common people of this country."

"Well, I haven't given up hope," said Truman. "Eventually we are going to write into law not only repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law, but the rest of the liberal program the people indorsed in the last election."

Real Estate "Front"

The real estate lobby has learned a trick from the Communists. It has now discovered the advantages of "front" organizations. Behind the fancy disguises, however, it's still the same real estate lobby.

For instance, the Georgia Taxpayers' League has been flooding the state with post cards, opposing government housing. Inside fact is that these cards were actually written by Ed Hiles, hired executive of the Georgia Savings and Loan League, an affiliate of the national organization run by Morton Bodfish, king of the real estate lobbyists, which has been indicted for failing to register under the Lobbying Act.

Hiles also failed to register when he came to Washington recently to lobby against public housing. Pinned down by this column, he admitted writing the post cards put out by the Georgia Taxpayers' League.

The league, he confessed, has "no charter, no bylaws, no nothing." The real estate groups simply thought it would be better to pose as the Georgia Taxpayers' League than give their own names, Hiles admitted. He identified B. A. Martin, legislative chairman of the Atlantic Home Builders' Association, as head of the dummy organization. Phil L'Engle, another Atlantic builder, also is connected with it, Hiles said.

Note—this attempt to disguise the real estate lobby also reveals a new national strategy. Having lost its battle in Washington, the lobby is scattering to the states to carry on state-wide campaigns against public housing and rent control.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, July 5—I anticipate with pleasure my appearance before a sub-committee of the Committee on Labor of the House of Representatives to testify regarding abuses committed by unions as fostered, subsidized and maintained for many years by the Roosevelt Administration and its legatee.

The topic which this sub-committee has put to me is the absence of democracy in unions. I know little, if anything, about that because I am not interested in democracy anywhere except to oppose it. Where it isn't, I don't miss it. No committee of Congress has any right to spend our money chasing any such fleeting. If the committee were sincere and not out to make medicine for the Democratic Party it would look for practices in unions which violate the Republican process. This nation is a Republic.

In my preparation for this hearing it has occurred to me that unions have been outrageously exempt from a type of inspection to which business firms and associations and certain political parties and fronts have had to submit. The reason is that Congress has been afraid to tackle the union movement because that movement has an unlimited power to tax the wages of about 12 million citizens and whole industries, such as coal, clothing, food and amusement, for money to be used as slush funds in political campaigns. No other authority ever has had such power. Congress has passed laws forbidding business firms to spend their money or their stockholders' money on political campaigns, but unions, alone, still have the right to buy or attempt to buy elections either openly if it suits them or by subterfuge through "educational" programs. Even religious organizations are on warning in the law that if any portion of their income be spent to influence legislation their tax exemption is forfeited. Then they must pay the tax. I doubt this would ever be enforced, but that is beside the point.

No union is required to pay an income tax whatever use it may make of its money. And a law adopted some years ago with intent to require "informational" returns for the edification of obscure file clerks in the treasury, has been a dead letter from the start. These returns can be so contrived as to be absolutely meaningless and still comply with this law.

The details of the privilege of unions are too great a mass to be discussed here, but the fact that not once has the American Federation of Labor or the C.I.O. been brought before Congress in the defensive, not to say defendant, status that other elements have occupied, is a measure of the power and privilege of these overbearing and ruthless forces. No committee of Congress ever has made a serious study of the constitutions of unions although every congressman should know that federal law and the force of policy amounting to law have compelled millions of persons to join unions who otherwise would have refused. During the war the United States employment service made itself a volunteer recruiting or dragooning agent for the unions by refusing to certify American citizens to war industries unless they had union cards or were willing to pay tribute and buy them. It still does.

This agency was supposed to promote the so-called "war effort" of the nation. It very soon put the union interests first and sluiced millions into the treasuries of gangsters, Communists and other rascals without the slightest pretense of an inquiry into the character of the men who got this money. When Oak Ridge was building and there was apparently desperate need of speed in a race with the Germans to be first with the atom bomb, thousands of electricians were required for certain phases of the job. Accordingly, the taxpayers paid for large advertisements which were published in New York and elsewhere offering outlandish wages for electricians on this secret job but stipulating that they must join the electricians union. We are still paying taxes to pay for the ads which raised this money for the union.

It is fundamentally wrong of our government to interefere in relations between a man who wants to work and the man who wants to employ him. The wrongness of this interference is acknowledged in the sidelong manner of the government's approach. The government intervenes with a pretense of promoting and regulating interstate commerce, when the real, hidden purpose is to fix wages, hours and working conditions and promote the growth and political power of unions and their bosses. If it were legal and right, of the Federal Government to interfere here the commerce clause would not be invoked. The law would simply say that employers must pay workers a certain minimum, must not permit them to work more than a certain maximum each day or week and must refuse them to work more than a certain maximum each day or week and must refuse them work unless they join unions. But that would violate the constitution.

Having achieved these results by a dishonest approach, the government then ought, consistently, to examine the union constitutions and compel the union bosses to revise them so as to conform to the laws and show respect for the rights of the citizens whom it compels to join. The right to speedy and fair trial in public courts, not kangaroo union courts, is one. But upon what charge could a citizen be prosecuted in the public courts for presuming to rise in a union meeting and demand an accurate accounting of the funds and move that the salaries of the commanding goons be reduced? It will be seen right there that the Federal Government cannot foster unionism without actively conniving at crimes again the citizen. For there is no offense against our public laws in the charges which I have mentioned, for instance. Yet union discipline frankly relies on the imposition of illegal penalties for such legal conduct.

The A. F. of L. and C. I. O. have, collectively handled thousands of millions since 1936. Their books and records should be inspected minutely and the bosses, including Dan Tobin, David Dubinsky, William Green and Philip Murray should be examined exactly as J. P. Morgan was.

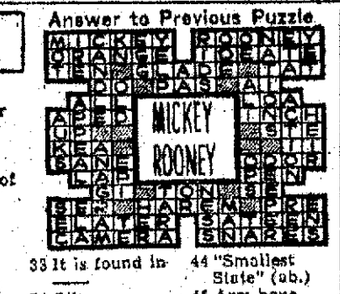
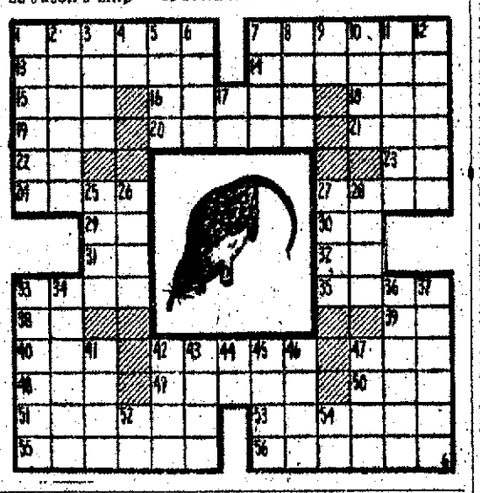
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE

The other day I dropped down to the lower East Side to see how my old neighborhood was bearing up under the heat and, as I was about to buy a cup of lemon ice from a hokey-pokey man, Sam Carmel who has been toting the Allen Street mail for 30 years came around the corner.

As you ought to know by now, Sam and column material are darn near one and the same thing, and so, after swapping howarya's, I decided to walk a ways with him. And, sure enough, in the hallway of the third tenement we entered I recognized a name of one of the mailboxes—Giuseppe Maniola, L.V.D.

"Isn't that the same Maniola who used to peddle vegetables on Mulberry Street?" I asked. "What does the L.V.D. stand for?"

"Giuseppe began putting those letters after his name about the time his daughter got married," said Sam. "Remember Rosa?"

And then, as we strolled, Sam told me a Cinderella story, merely substituting zucchini for the pumpkin and chicken cacciatore for the coach. . . .

Rosa's mother died around the time Coolidge was not choosing to run, and Giuseppe took on the job of bringing up the bambina himself. He cooked for her, sewed for her and even kept her in a basket on his pushcart while he was hawking escarole and finocchio. And, for a couple of years, the standard joke on Mulberry Street was to go up to Giuseppe and say, "How much you want for Rosa?"

Like all East Siders, Giuseppe had big plans for his kid, and every night he would drop his odd change into an olive oil can; and, when Rosa graduated from high school, he emptied the can and found he had nearly five hundred dollars. Unfortunately, this wasn't enough to send his daughter to a college-college, and so he enrolled her in a business college.

Six months later, Rosa landed a job in an office building in the 40's, with a lawyer who was in his 30's—a rather elegant young man named James Wakefield who was a lot more than a little stuck on himself. Which wasn't surprising, seeing as how he had a rich father and was the product of an exclusive preparatory school, Christ College at Oxford, the Sorbonne and, finally, Harvard Law School.

Well, following the customary course of Cinderella tales, James passed through the usual stages of development in Rosa's mind. First, he was a name in Latin script on the framed diplomas in the outer office; then, a marble figure who occasionally deigned to give her dictation; then, a tired and overworked executive who was badly in need of relaxation and understanding; and finally—Cary Grant on a bicycle! Clark Gable on roller skates! The Prince Charming who brings a Cinderella story to its slaphappy ending!

As for a stuck-on-himself James, well, not at home or abroad had he ever encountered a female with Rosa's poise, parabolas and underpinnings. So it wasn't long before they were seeing Coney Island together, eating hot dogs, riding the chute-the-chutes, and when Rosa pretended to be scared on the big dips, the lawyer, stroked her lily-white digits and whispered the usual inconsequentials into her eager little ear.

So it came to pass—just as Rita got her Prince and Bobo her Rockefeller—that Rosa Maniola got her well-diploma'd Wakefield. But, alas, as ban-posting time approached, the problem of Giuseppe of Mulberry street came up. And it worried Rosa plenty.

One day, after first seeing to it that her father was properly barbered and necktied, she brought him to the office to meet her intended. Giuseppe, of course, was very much impressed by the pine paneling and the array of diplomas and his eyes teared up when he learned that James, like Rosa, had been motherless most of his life.

"Who cook-a for you," he asked, "ya old man?"

Rosa tried to explain that the well-to-do Wakefields had a cook to do their cooking, but Giuseppe shook his head. "Is no da same," he said. "Is not a-like home cooking. Come down-a my place Thursday, I show what I mean. Bring-a ya pop."

"It's a date," said James. "Rosa tells me you make the best cacciatore in New York."

That night, Giuseppe was puzzled when he heard his daughter sobbing in her bedroom.

"I know you meant well," she told him the next morning at breakfast, "but you've spoiled everything. When Jimmy's father sees this miserable flat, there'll be no wedding."

After his daughter was gone, the old man looked around and wondered what she had been getting at. What was wrong with such a clean and well-kept place? What did Rosa mean by saying the flat was "miserable?"

Then he looked at the walls. Ah, that was it—except for the small Madonna and the hardware store calendar, the walls were bare. They displayed none of those symbols of culture he had seen in Wakefield's office—those framed certificates with gold seals.

"Rosa mia," he whispered, "I fix. . . ."

Thursday evening when the Wakefields accompanied by Rosa climbed the stairs to the Maniola flat, the breath they had just recovered was taken away again by the sight that met their eyes. From floor to ceiling, the room was plastered with the most amazing panorama of diplomas ever assembled in one place—not to mention beer licenses, summonses, barber school certificates, Tenderfoot and Eagle Scout awards, and a slew of parchments from the novelty store in the neighborhood proclaiming membership in the Kibitzer's Club, Ananias Association, and the Society for the Protection of Indigent Bookies.

Rosa turned pink, but Jimmy turned red. Wakefield Senior, however, after a gasp and a stare, began to laugh.

"You—you got the idea—from my son's office, didn't you?" he said. "I mean, the diplomas—in my son's office. Right?"

Giuseppe nodded.

"If the color of his face means anything," said Wakefield, Senior, "my son gets the point. What you're trying to tell him with your little practical joke is that anybody can have a lot of fancy diplomas, and that a man shouldn't get the big head because he's got a few on his walls. Well, I'm with you all the way on that. Shake."

Giuseppe grinned uncertainly. "I'm-a glad you like," he said. "Now, sit down, sit down. The cacciatore, she's a-ready. . . ."

"Did the Wakefields live happily ever after?" I asked Sam Carmel when he had finished.

"As far as I know," said the postman. "The next day James moved his diplomas into the back office and began to act like folks. But I don't think Giuseppe ever got the point, because around that time he started putting the L.V.D. after his name. It stands for Licensed Vegetable Dealer."

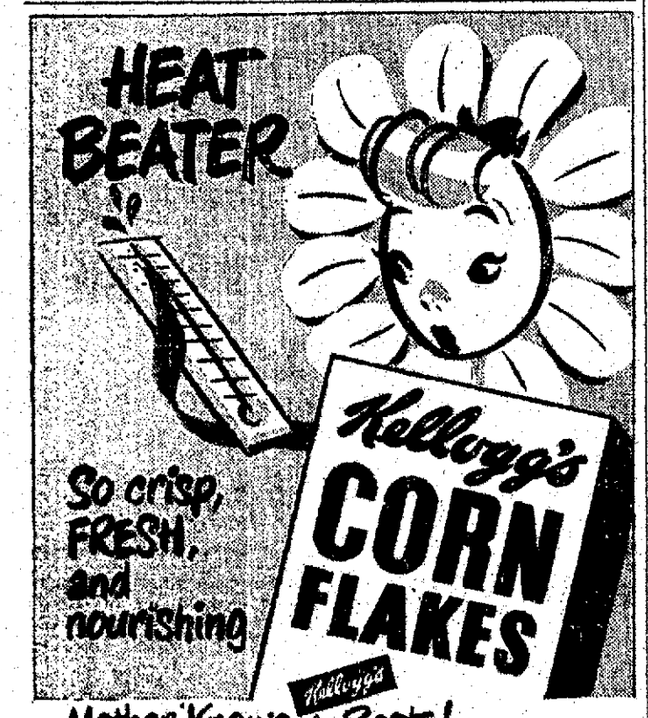
Will Go to Mexico

New York, July 6 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer is going to Mexico City next week to visit President Miguel Aleman. The mayor's nine or 10-day stay at Mexico City will repay a visit here several months ago by the Mexican president. O'Dwyer said yesterday he will leave by plane July 14.



Welcome Wagon To Resume Its Local Activities

Welcome Wagon, Inc., will resume activities in Kingston this summer according to Mrs. Irma Herrington, 238 Elmendorf street, who has been appointed local representative. The plan was used in Kingston for several years prior to the war when new families, new brides and recently engaged girls were among those visited by the Welcome Wagon representative.

Mrs. Herrington plans to start the service in Kingston after July 25 and will visit new comers to the community first. Later she hopes to branch out into the other fields of the plan. She returned last week-end from New York where she completed a course of instruction preparing her to represent Welcome Wagon.

The service was originated in 1928 by Thomas W. Briggs, a newspaperman of Memphis, Tenn., who adapted a custom of pioneer days to present day conditions. As the covered wagons of the pioneers lumbered toward the frontier, homesteaders from scattered settlements along the way met them in "welcome wagons" with food and water to refresh the travelers at the end of their long journey, and extended a hand of welcome.

The plan will be supported by various civic minded groups and merchants. The Chamber of Commerce and the Ministerial Association are among the groups signifying interest in the local service.

Mrs. Herrington plans to carry literature concerning the community, the various civic drives held from time to time, a map of the city, nearest school and church information. These will be brought to the attention of new comers in the city. Also she hopes to carry a letter of welcome from the mayor and the chamber of commerce, as well as gifts from merchants.

She is the wife of Lionel B. Herrington and is active in parent-teacher organizations. She recently was elected president of the newly organized Parents' Group at School 6.

Dewey May Confer With Party Heads On Wagner Post

New York, July 6 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey may confer here today with Republican leaders to get their views about an interim successor to U. S. Sen. Robert F. Wagner (D.-N.Y.) who has resigned.

Dewey arrived here yesterday for an overnight stay.

His secretary, Paul Lockwood, said the governor had no political appointments yesterday, but had "several telephone conferences."

It was reported the governor talked by phone with Rep. William L. Pfeiffer, Republican state chairman, about possible choices for filling the vacant senatorial seat, and that the two were expected to confer further today.

The person appointed by Dewey will serve until next November when a successor will be elected to serve until the end of Wagner's unexpired term Jan. 3, 1951.

Meanwhile, selection of opposing party candidates to vie in the fall election still was in the conference stage.

Former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman still is considered the likely Democratic choice for the Senate nomination but he told two callers yesterday he had not decided whether to make the race.

The two were David Dubinsky, president of the A.F.L. International Ladies Garment Workers Union, and Alex Rose, secretary-treasurer of the New York joint board of the Hat, Cap and Millinery Workers Union.

Dubinsky and Rose, leaders of the Liberal Party, urged Lehman to run and promised him their support.

Paul E. Fitzpatrick Democratic state chairman, returned from a Florida business trip yesterday, and began at once a series of conferences on the senatorial situation.

He was expected to meet with Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national committeeman, and veteran Bronx leader, on the problem today. These two will have important voices in the eventual selections.

All parties marked time on New York city mayoralty nominations, pending clarification of the Senate situation.

Local Death Record

The body of Pvt. Percy Miller of Kerhonkson, R.D., will arrive in Kingston Thursday, July 7, on the 2:30 West Shore train. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday from the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson.

The funeral of Antoinette Hahn Forst, wife of Leon Forst, took place Tuesday. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery. Mrs. Forst, who died July 3 in New York, also is survived by two daughters, Adelaide Forst Fogel and Rose-Marie Forst Lewent of New York; and a son, Charles Forst of Kingston.

Funeral services for William Thompson, age 89, of Kerhonkson will be held from the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson, Thursday, July 7, at 10 a. m. Burial will be in the family plot in Kyserike Cemetery. Mr. Thompson, who would have been 90 on August 27, was struck by a car last Friday while attempting to cross Route 209. He was brought to the Kingston Hospital where he died Monday. Born in New York city, he had resided most of his life in Kerhonkson. There are no immediate survivors.

Carol Sue Scully, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. and Susanna Scully of 44 Stickles avenue, died early Tuesday morning in Kingston. Besides her parents, she is survived by a brother, Charles S. Scully; her grand parents, Edward and Carrie Slater; and several aunts and uncles. The funeral will be held from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home Thursday at 9 a. m. and at 9:30 at St. Joseph's Church where a Mass of Angels will be offered. Burial will be in the family plot in the Hurley Cemetery.

No Heat Relief

No immediate break appeared today said The Associated Press in the summer season's longest heat wave over an area from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic coast. Some showers fell in scattered sections of the hot belt but in most places they afforded only temporary relief. There were heat deaths and prostration cases reported from all sections of the torid zone. Most of the midwest was weary from a week of hot, sticky weather. The eastern states also sizzled in the scaring heat. And in the northeastern area there was no sign of rain to break the long drouth. The U. S. Weather Bureau said the only comfortable spots over the two-thirds of the country in the grip of the hot weather were the northern border states. Temperatures also were pleasant along the Pacific coast.

SHOKAN

Shokan, July 5 — Mrs. John Clarke of Pittsfield, Mass., spent the holiday with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elmendorf.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carpenter of New York arrived here Saturday for a month's sojourn at the James Carpenter camp along the Ridge Road. Tom has been a member of the metropolitan civil engineering staff for many years and at one time was engaged in Catskill Aqueduct work down the river.

Mrs. Alfred Priven and two children of New York have been spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Priven's aunt, Mrs. Emerich Lukacs.

The Rev. Dow McBain, who was supply pastor at the local Methodist Church during the fall and winter, and his wife are now occupying the house in Phoenicia which they bought from Harvey Lane.

Mrs. Robert DuBois, the former Margaret Grossman of Shokan, and baby daughter are at their home in Ashokan. The new arrival in the DuBois family was born June 14 and has been named Renee. The young couple are also parents of a son, Roger, now in his second year.

Recently, a fox, found upon examination to be the most affected by rabies of all other cases in this county, attacked Neil Jocelyn, 16, as the youth was walking down the road in Shandaken. Fortunately, Neil's skin was not punctured by the animal's teeth although his trousers leg was torn. Up in Jefferson, Claude Payne, 3, was frightened by a raccoon which lay crouched on the woodpile near the kitchen door. The head of the coon was sent to Albany where evidences of rabies was found in the brain.

Ed Kelly, uptown Kingston real estate man, called Saturday at the home of his friend, George Keider in the village center.

Charles Greene, local farmer, was injured Friday when he was thrown from a hayrake upon which he was working in one of his side-hill fields along the Trail. He landed on his head and back and received severe bruises. Charlie was hurt while raking hay last year, at which time he suffered injuries to his face as a result of being struck by a flying tine from the rake. The Greene bay horse of the farm team was also laid up Friday from what at first was feared to be a broken leg, and is now turned out to pasture.

Several summer bungalows are reported for rent in and around the village this season, a condition which has not existed for the past several years. Generally, it is almost impossible to find a vacant summer place at the beginning of the season.

Republicans of the first Olive district will meet in caucus Saturday evening, July 9, at the home of Lemuel E. DuBois of Ashokan. The caucus, notices for which are signed by L. E. DuBois and Patrick O'Keefe, committeemen, is called for the purpose of naming delegates to the county convention and ascertaining the local sentiment for candidates for county offices.

Will Open Casino

San Marino, July 6 (AP)—The Communist government of this tiny, oldest republic in Europe decided last night to make a play for Europe's big-time gambling money. For a long time San Marino, tucked away inside Italy, has had a hungry eye on the millions played at the gambling tables of another midget state—Monaco's Monte Carlo. The San Marino Council, which has a Communist majority, voted to legalize gambling in its hill-top republic. It is expected that a casino will be opened soon; San Marino covers 38 square miles and has a population of about 14,000.

U. S. Holdings Huge

Washington, July 6 (AP)—While Britain struggles with its shortage of gold and dollars this country holds $24,465,923,000 in gold assets. It is a record high amount and equal to about three-fifths of the world's monetary gold. There is a welter of rumors—with nothing here to confirm them—that Britain and other European countries are asking the U. S. to aid them further through use of the gold stock. Administration experts say they know nothing about any such pleas. And in any case, they add, it would take action by Congress to turn over any of the metal to a foreign country.

Fire Convention Group Meets 11th

The Kingston volunteer firemen's convention committee will meet at the Central Fire Station at 8 p. m. Monday, July 11, to make final plans for the convention here July 28, 29 and 30. Chairman Peter Keresman urges a full attendance of committee members as some important details must be arranged.

An added feature of the parade this year will be the participation of the Centennial Hose Company band and firemen from Peekskill. About 60 men will attend as guests of the Cordts Hose Company. The principal speaker at the business meeting Friday evening, July 29, will be Chief B. Richter Townsend of Hartsdale who is president of the Westchester County Fire Chiefs Association.

Chief Joseph L. Murphy, the parade marshal, asks that all companies intending to participate in the parade and have representatives at the dinner Thursday night, return their questionnaires at once. The program must go to press in the near future.

Warmer Weather Ahead

Albany, N. Y., July 6 (AP)—Partly cloudy skies tended to keep the temperatures in the mid 80s today in most sections of New York state. But tomorrow is another day—and it will be warmer and more humid. The U. S. Weather Bureau said Old Sol probably will boil the temperature into the 90s in some parts of the state. Light rain fell in the New York metropolitan area today, but it was insufficient to break the 41-day drouth. The .07 of an inch rain, accompanied by some thunder and lightning, swept over all of the city's five boroughs and adjoining areas in New Jersey.

Crowe Gets Three Years

New York, July 6 (AP)—Richard H. Crowe, 41, charged with stealing $883,660 from the National City Bank of which he was assistant manager, was sentenced today in Federal Court to three years in jail. He was placed on probation also for five years after completion of his term. Crowe, who pleaded guilty May 24 to four counts of an indictment, faced a possible maximum penalty of 45 years in prison and a fine of $30,000.

Swindlers Pose as Police

Bangkok (AP)—Two men went to Thonburi to buy a motor boat. They didn't buy the boat, but instead lost $1,500 to five men who posed as police. Nai Yuang Sisak and a nephew, Nai Toi Sisok, found themselves in the hands of the quintet of swindlers who said they were looking for plotters against the government. The bogus officers took Yuang Toi on a ferry boat ride to a distant landing and there made off with the money.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

As this is written the illogical billion-dollar savings bond drive comes to a close.

When the drive was announced, in April, this contrary writer pointed out that in his sober view "a billion-dollar bond drive now . . . is extremely untimely and ill-advised." The point emphasized was that this was a towering amount of money (purchasing power) to syphon from the channels of trade when our economy was at the juncture in the shift from inflation to deflation.

Now, as the drive closes, it would appear that our financial bosses in Washington are swinging around to the same viewpoint.

In any event, the Federal Reserve Board—as you doubtless read this week—has announced an about-face in its monetary policies. The change in policy has to do with the "open market committee." This committee manages the market operations of the Federal Reserve Bank, and decides whether to buy or sell government bonds. Its influence on economic affairs is felt through these market operations. If the Federal Reserve Banks sell government securities, this transaction withdraws money from circulation and puts more bonds into the hands of banks and institutions. If, conversely, the Federal banks buy bonds, this action pumps more money into circulation.

Buying bonds and putting the additional funds into circulation is inflationary. The contrary operation, selling bonds, is deflationary.

A year and more ago, in an effort to stem inflation, the Federal Reserve Banks were in a delicate position. The official bond market policy then was to prevent government bonds from falling sharply in price. The Federal banks wished to sell bonds, to counteract inflation, yet wished to hold up prices in the bond market. More recently, the effort has been to maintain an "even" market and hold bond prices from rising.

It must be conceded that the monetary management has been skillfully handled.

With this announced new policy of the Federal Reserve authorities—after consultation with the Treasury — government bond prices will be permitted to rise.

A strong government bond market is a bullish factor on other bonds. In turn, past market patterns reveal that a recovery in the bond market often precedes a recovery in the stock market.

Let us note the words of the statement issued by the Federal Reserve: "... It will be the policy of the committee (open market committee) to direct purchases, sales and exchanges of government security by the Federal Reserve Bank with primary regard to the general business and credit situation."

These are rather strong words coming from the highest monetary authorities in the nation. It means that it is the open-market policy to stimulate business. The statement adds: "With a view to increasing the supply of funds available in the market to meet the needs of commerce, business, and agriculture . . ." While there is no demand for increased credit today (indeed, bank loans are dropping off steadily), nonetheless, this avowed intention to pump funds into circulation is certain to have its effect in time.

In short, an inflationary monetary program is now in force.

This changed policy is in striking contrast to a bond drive, started six weeks ago, for the purpose of selling government bonds to individuals to the tune of over a billion dollars. This was deflationary.

Note further that this new credit policy of the Federal Reserve Board comes as the fiscal year of the government ends. It is a foregone conclusion that in the new year, commencing July 1, the government balance sheet will be deeply in the "red." The old device of the New Deal, "deficit financing," is to be with us again. Deficit financing is a polite term for saying that the government will borrow more money than it can take in. Deficit financing is likewise inflationary, because it increases the deposits in banks and adds further to the "spendable" money in circulation.

The question at once arises: When will these inflationary moves have a recognizable influence on business and markets?

The government bond market has already reflected the new stimulus.

As for business and the stock market, the "timing" rests upon public psychology, and the time element is anybody's guess. However, these monetary moves do support the contrary opinions we have so frequently presented here in opposition to the fears of recession and a falling stock market.

The universally expected and widely publicized "bottom" of the current recession is given as "the second quarter in 1950." It is a foregone conclusion that this date will prove wide of the mark. By mid-1950 we shall either be well up in the recovery cycle, or plunging into a real depression. You can safely wager that today's general opinion will be wrong, one way or the other. Such widely accepted "dates" never prove out in economic events. We may be sure that either the timing is wrong, or the extent of the so-called "recession." For the fun of guessing, the Ruminator thinks the timing is wrong and that inflationary policies will turn the tide much earlier than expected, with the serious slump to come later.

Republican Calls

community knows in advance that from the very moment he launches his conquest he will forthwith face whatever cumulative opposition these united Allies deem necessary to beat him to his knees and to restore peace and security."

There is no intention of turning western Europe "into an armed camp," Vandenberg said, nor can the pact "be deemed to contemplate new American manpower overseas."

Vandenberg made these points in his analysis of the treaty:

(1) The pact is within the framework of the United Nations and "is the greatest discouragement to war we have yet devised." "In my opinion," Vandenberg added, "it points the way to make the (United Nations) charter work despite the charter's crippling handicaps."

(2) The President's power as commander in chief of the armed forces "is neither increased nor diminished" by the treaty.

(3) The pact carries no obligations to defend European colonies outside the defense area.

(4) The way is open for other nations to join the alliance with the unanimous consent of its members and approval by the Senate.

(5) The United States will not be bound to take sides in a civil way unless the civil war includes "external armed aggression."

Hiring Hall Illegal

New York, July 6 (AP)—The operation of hiring halls for job-hunting seamen—a long-time, jealously-guarded tradition of the C.I.O. National Maritime Union—has been declared illegal at Great Lakes ports. The U. S. Court of Appeals yesterday upheld a finding of the National Labor Relations Board that the hall discriminated against non-union seamen in violation of the Taft-Hartley law. Under union hiring hall procedure, job hunters must register with the union. They are then assigned to ship jobs by rotation. The court did not rule on whether all hiring halls are illegal under the Taft-Hartley law. However, the N.L.R.B. was expected to seek to apply the ruling to hiring hall at all ports, for both longshoremen and seamen.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Mention in the June 27th column of A.M.B.'s letter of Saugerties which described the "Kirmess" in the Armory on Broadway, proceeds going to the hospital, brought the suggestion that I look in "Picturesque Ulster" Kingston book No. 2, where chapter called "The City of Kingston Hospital" as covered by the Rev. Dr. R. L. Burtsell. It seems a corporation was formed on August 28, 1872, known as "Ulster General Hospital," for the erection of a hospital in this vicinity. John O'Reilly offered site of an acre and a half, bounded by St. Alban's, Jackson and Webster streets, which was then accepted by the committee. A subscription for the erection of a building not to cost less than $25,000 was started. The men had good intentions but the money was not forthcoming. In 1890 another such movement was started of which John E. Kraft was elected president, George C. Smith, secretary, and William M. Hayes, treasurer with many more prominent men and physicians on the committee. $1,000 was raised with difficulty.

On June 2 and 3, 1891, the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society was formed with Mrs. Dillon, president, Miss E. Madden, secretary, and Mrs. W. B. Fitch, treasurer, and as ladies will they went to work. By July 13, they had reached a subscription of $5,000. The City of Kingston Hospital was incorporated on July 30, 1891, with Mayor Kraft presiding at the first meeting of the board of managers at the City Hall on August 1.

They the ladies started with their money raising social affairs, one of which being the Kirmess, the Saugerties lady wrote me about. It brought in the sum of $3,600, which I understand really started the hospital drive in earnest. The cornerstone ceremony was set for April 15, 1893, but unfortunately the unexpected death of Dr. George C. Smith of the group occurred which saddened the entire city as he was an ardent worker for this cause. The cornerstone ceremony was held on Saturday, April 22, 1893, with parades and bands of music and school children participating. The Armory was again donated by the 14th Separate Co., N.G.S.N.Y., to the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society for April 1894 for a mammoth Hospital Fair. It again turned out not only a social success but the handsome sum of $4,774.74 was raised. Once the hospital was formally opened on November 27, 1894, the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society became the Auxiliary Board.

All this information was gathered from "Picturesque Ulster" Kingston Book, No. 2 by R. Lionel De Lisser, a graduate of the Royal Bavarian Academy of High Arts, Munich. Picturesque Ulster, of which three books cover just Kingston, others towns such as Woodstock, etc., are not only filled with historical data difficult to obtain elsewhere but also some one thousand original illustrations and excellent photographs. The Kingston Freeman Press printed the books and the work is so clear that one can easily read store and road signs in the many photographs.

Hutton Sees Grave Danger Of Nation as Socialized State

This country is in imminent danger of becoming a socialized state, Edward F. Hutton, leading industrialist and an organizer of Freedom's Foundation, told 140 members and guests of Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday noon.

"Unless we practice eternal vigilance, this republic, as we know it, is doomed," he warned.

Hutton characterized the trend toward a "welfare state" and today's campaigns for such things as socialized medicine as part of a plan "whereby the liberty and freedom of every one of us would be weakened and our Constitution and Bill of Rights chiseled, chopped, carved and torn apart."

As a plan to awaken interest in our democracy and counteract the teachings of the liberals, Hutton explained the purposes of Freedom's Foundation which has earmarked a $4,000,000 fund, four times as much as the Nobel prize fund, to provide prizes for those who make the greatest contributions to American freedom.

"Our liberty is on the auction block. Are we, the people, going to demand the return of our property, liberty and freedom, or is it going to others by default?" he asked.

"Now, a plan for action has been accomplished. It is a vehicle whereby all the people of this nation of ours can be made aware of the real value of liberty and freedom and aware of every threat to them, no matter how deeply buried in any proposed masquerading under the guise of social or liberal progress.

"This proposal is quite simple. We are proposing a good sized group of large and small prizes to be awarded for the defense of our liberties and freedoms.

"This idea is for everybody—for the 143,000,000 people in our country, not for any class, any minority or majority, any creed or color. Like freedom and liberty itself, like justice, it is for all.

"We propose a prize fund of $4,000,000—and that is 100 times the size of the Nobel prize fund—for a permanent annual and monthly series of awards to be given to individuals in all walks of life for the contribution they make in defense of the basic rights and personal freedoms that are the sole foundation of our American way of life.

"We are to insure a certain amount of the awards will go to citizens in every state and territory of this Union.

As 'Eternal Defense'

"In proposing this award idea we are proposing an eternal defense of the greatest bread and butter document known to man, it is our Constitution and Bill of Rights.

"This idea will promote a more concrete understanding of the romance of America, creating competition among the American people as to who is going to tell this wonderful story and who are going to receive these worthwhile prizes. This is the tradition of American competition.

"This whole idea is that every school child of this nation and all of the grown-ups study the reasons why they have liberty and freedom and how such liberties and freedoms can be extended and also how easily they can be lost."

A second part of the plan to promote freedom was explained by Hutton:

"We call upon every business in this country to increase its advertising appropriation by just one per cent in order to carry out the suggestion of General Dwight D. Eisenhower made to the advertising men of the nation at New York on October 27, 1948.

"General Eisenhower said, 'if business is going to continue to sell through the decades it must also promote an understanding of what made those products possible.'

"In this our great general shows the same basic ability about our civil freedoms as he showed in the protection of those freedoms when our entire nation was in danger. He pointed out the why and the wherefore and the how of victory in war and in these few words he has also patterned a campaign for peace, prosperity and understanding."

Hutton warned against the person he called a "Yankee Doodle communist." He explained that by that term he meant a man or woman parading under a political party banner and quoting the Bill of Rights and the Constitution at some length as a shield but continually speaking for the advancement of socialistic ideas.

"Liberty can be destroyed by revolution or by the slow process of attrition. This latter is the deadlier method since it is deceptive. Destroy by degrees the habits of free people and slowly but surely you transform proud men into cringing beggars, strong men into cowards, free men into serfs," he said.

Quotes Woodrow Wilson

Hutton stated his belief in the words of Woodrow Wilson, who said, "I do not want to be taken care of by the government, either directly or indirectly or by any instrument through which the government is acting. I want only to have right and justice prevail so far as I am concerned. Give me right and justice and I will undertake to take care of myself. I will not live under a trustee if I can help it. I do not care how wise or how patriotic the trustees may be. I have never heard of any group of men in whose hands I am willing to lodge the liberties of America in trust."

Of his own start in Kingston, Hutton told those present he came here from New York at the age of 16 or 17 and spent one year with the old Diamond Truck and Car Gear Company. At that time, he had nothing and had to save every penny he could. Though he often wished he had been able to attend high school and college, he said he believed it was because "I had to work like I did that I created my philosophy of Americanism."

Frederic Snyder, lecturer, was general chairman of the meeting and introduced the speaker as "a zealous American, and adequate citizen." Hutton's life was so varied and had so many interests, Snyder said, that if everyone in the room read his history each would introduce the speaker in a different way.

Hutton, who is 72, is former chairman of the board of General Foods Corporation, founder of the E. F. Hutton and Company, fourth largest brokerage firm in the country, and incidental director of corporations like Chrysler and Zonite. In 1934 he started a one-man propaganda whirlwind in behalf of free enterprise. In the campaign he ran full backpage newspaper advertisements from coast to coast. He is an uncle of Woolworth Heiress, Barbara Hutton.

Thursday's luncheon meeting was arranged by the Lions Club and attended as a joint meeting by Rotary and Kiwanis members. Credit for arranging the meeting and obtaining the speaker was given by Francis Martocci, Lions past president, to Warren Smith and Frederic Snyder.

The Rev. Robert Shellenberger of St. John's Episcopal Church gave the invocation. The meeting closed with the singing of "God Bless America" by the entire group.

Hutton, who flew to Kingston from Long Island before the speech, was met at the Kingston-Ulster Airport by a delegation from the service clubs and by Frederic Snyder and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk. A police escort was provided to the hotel.

Three Die in Fire

New York, July 6 (AP)—Two men and a woman died early today when fire swept a vacant three-story house in an old section of downtown Brooklyn. Police said they did not know why the three were in the old brick house at 83 Main street. The fire department said the house was empty of furniture. One body was identified as Malley Willis, 65, no home. A second man was not identified immediately. The woman was identified by fire officials as "Scotch Mary," 55, no home. Cause of the fire, which gutted the house, was not known, police said. They reported the building was owned by the city.

Clayton's Band Fails to Broadcast

All set for a broadcast that never materialized, Clayton's Military Band of Ellenville gave their first of ten summer concerts from the porch of Hunt Memorial Building, Liberty Square, Thursday evening, June 30.

With arrangements all made for broadcasting the second section of their program over Station WOVS, Monticello, the boys are awaiting the signal from the engineers that they are "on the air." Conductor Harry Smith, with the baton, is directing a bit of preliminary music while George Wolf is at the mike, ready to make the announcement.

The signal never came, however. A phone call to the Monticello station brought the announcement, according to Mr. Wolf, that the Kingston Local of the Musicians Union had told the WOVS management that, if the Clayton Band broadcast over their station while the band still was on the unfair list, all union musicians would be barred from broadcasting over WOVS.

Reds Want More Trade

Moscow, July 6 (AP)—Russian receptiveness to proposals for increased trade with the west has been emphasized since the arrival here of new envoys from England and the United States. Soviet President Nikolai Shvernik brought the subject up when the new British ambassador, Sir David Kelly, presented his credentials June 30. He told Sir David an approach from Britain for more trade with the Soviet Union would get the attention of the Kremlin. Shvernik repeated the same general idea Monday when U. S. Ambassador Alan Kirk presented his credentials. Shvernik's remarks on the subject of trade have made impressions at the British and American embassies, both apparently prepared to hold conversations on the subject if it should come up again.

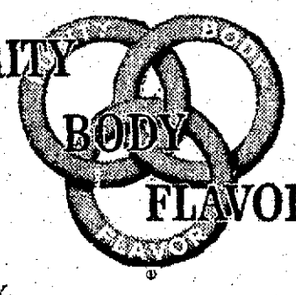
But no guessing about BALLANTINE

...it always means PURITY



FLAVOR

• The word is jam! Right you are! There's the jam that ties up the cars . . . the jam that's put up in jars. The artist makes it plain that jam is one of those words that keeps you guessing.

But no guessing about Ballantine! Ballantine always means PURITY, BODY, FLAVOR . . . the qualities symbolized by Peter Ballantine's 3-ring trade mark. Look for the 3 rings; call for Ballantine—America's finest since 1840.

Boettigers to Part After 14 Years

Phoenix, Ariz., July 6 (AP)—After 14 years of marriage, a romance that started between a president's daughter and a newspaper reporter appeared to have ended today.

John Boettiger, 49, the reporter, was suing his wife, Anna, 43, daughter of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, for divorce in Maricopa County Superior Court.

The couple first met in 1932 on a presidential campaign trip. Boettiger, who later became the publisher of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and the Arizona Times of Phoenix, at the time was a reporter for the Chicago Tribune.

They were married in 1935, after Anna had divorced her first husband, Curtis Dall, a New York broker. She obtained the divorce in Reno in 1934.

In a suit filed in the Superior Court yesterday, Boettiger charged his wife with mental cruelty.

The complaint said that starting in June, 1946, his wife was guilty of "cruel treatment . . . in that she has repeatedly by statements, actions and manners, humiliated and made him miserable."

The couple reached agreement July 15, 1948, settling their property rights. They have a son, John R., 10, who now is living with his mother in Hollywood.

Mrs. Boettiger said in Hollywood she would ask her attorney to file an answer and a cross complaint but added she has "no intention of making a lengthy trial" of the suit. She said she will seek custody of the children.

"All family break-ups are very bad things," she said.

Mrs. Boettiger had two children in first marriage, Anna Eleanor and Curtis, who became known nationally as "Sistie" and "Buzzie" when they lived at the White House.

Anna Eleanor was married here July 8, 1948, to V. H. Seagraves of Oregon City, Ore., after the Boettigers had separated and sold the Times to a group of Phoenix businessmen. Kirk C. Dunbar now is publisher of the paper.

Bowling payments amounted to $20.10 with no receipts.

Sale of tickets for the A.A. banquet amounted to $420 and the expenses, including $200 for the speaker, amounted to $863.35 for a deficit of $443.35. The A.A. party brought in $35.40 and disbursements were $65.25, leaving a deficit of $29.85.

Says Mind Is Slipping

Paris, July 6 (AP)—Henri Philippe Petain's mind is slipping and he should not be left to die in prison, his lawyers told French President Vincent Auriol today. In a letter to the president appealing for the old soldiers' release or transfer, the lawyers said Petain's mind has entered "little by little into the darkness of the night." One of the lawyers said the 94-year-old Petain no longer remembers why he is imprisoned on the bleak Ile D'Yeu off the southwest coast of France. Petain, a former marshal of France, was one of the nation's great heroes of World War 1. In World War 2 he served as chief of state of the Vichy regime. After France's liberation from the Germans he was sentenced to life imprisonment on treason charges.

Merchant Mariner

found in beds in separate rooms of Jensen's curio-laden home in the Trinity mountains, northwest of Sonoma.

Officers went there yesterday after Mrs. Paget, bleeding, hysterical, and wearing only a T-shirt, stumbled down a canyon road and told a party of picnickers that she had been raped.

Guldbrandsen was booked at the Humboldt county jail on the technical holding charge of "en route to Santa Rosa."

Sonoma County Sheriff Harry Patteson and Deputy Sheriff Robert Dollar left Santa Rosa by car last night for Eureka. They were expected to return him to the Sonoma county seat late today or tomorrow.

Born in Brooklyn

When he was booked, Guldbrandsen said he was born at Brooklyn August 23, 1914 and that his mother was Mrs. Louise L. Ihland of Layton, N. J.

He had $7.47 cash in his pockets. He earlier had relinquished Flint's car keys and wallet, and Flint's car was found where he said he had left it, at the Eureka Inn.

The climax to the manhunt set in motion by the revolting crime was as astonishing as it was sudden.

Calls Newspaper

Guldbrandsen called the newspaper, said he had a good news story and asked that a reporter be sent to a designated bar and ask for "Johnny."

Neumeier was assigned. When Guldbrandsen told him, over a beer, that "I'm the guy they're looking for in Sonoma," Neumeier at first refused to believe it. But Guldbrandsen produced identification, and Flint's car keys and wallet.

Neumeier took him to the newspaper office. There Guldbrandsen gave him and Hodgkinson his long statement. The three went out for a leisurely dinner. Then Hodgkinson called Sheriff's Detective Charles Cavagnaro.

Guldbrandsen said he had gone with his friend, Flint, on Friday evening to spend the week-end at Jensen's place; that everything was "fine" until he awoke Monday morning.

"I awoke feeling rapid pulsation and pounding heartbeat. I went outside, took a stone which was part of an Indian pestle, came back into the cabin, hit Flint and Jensen.

"I felt no compassion at the time, but was in somewhat of a stupor. I feel the greatest revulsion at this time, but can still speak objectively."

He said he then took Flint's car and went to the nearby resort, where he got Mrs. Paget, on a pretext, to go back with him to the Jensen cabin. He had been introduced to her by Flint the night before.

He continued his story:

He hit her with the pestle as they entered the cabin, "intending to knock her out." He felt sorry for her when she fell down and told him of her two children. But she tried to get away when he went to get her some water.

"Originally I had no object in bringing her up there. As a means of soothing me, she offered herself and I accepted."

Other than his being "in a stupor," he gave no motive for the attack on the two men. Nor did he explain why he bludgeoned Mrs. Paget.

He said he tied Mrs. Paget to a tree in the back yard in order to give him time to get away. Then he took Flint's car, drove north to Eureka and registered at an inn as Henry B. Miller. He dined, danced and drank with girls at a bar until closing time.

He joined in community singing before he left, too.

He had difficulty sleeping. Yesterday, after mulling the matter over, he decided to give himself up. He decided to surrender to newspapermen, because in reading the slayings he felt the general public feeling was "that I was a dangerous character" and he wanted to avoid "any disturbance" in being arrested in public.

Guldbrandsen was released from prison June 17 after doing two years on a San Mateo assault charge. He was convicted of stabbing a San Mateo man 13 times in a quarrel over a woman in the man's apartment.

In his statements here, he referred to his mental "quirks." Perhaps it would have been best, he said, if the state had sent him to a mental home after the San Mateo incident, and not to prison.

Corona Woman Is Shot Accidentally

Helen Dorsa, 23, of 104-51 47th avenue, Corona, L. I., was accidentally shot in the left foot Sunday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock while engaged in target practice with a .22 calibre rifle at Tillson.

The young woman was staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Chetta, an uncle and aunt, at Tillson and had gone out with a young man companion to shoot at tin cans. She told County Investigator Clayton Vredenburg and Deputy Sheriff William Frost, that she had the rifle and was being instructed in its use by her companion when she accidentally pulled the trigger and the bullet struck her foot.

Taken to the Kingston Hospital she was treated by Dr. S. C. Pauker who reported the accident to Sheriff George Smith and an investigation was ordered.

Woman Is Killed

New York, July 6 (AP)—A well-dressed woman was killed today by a Broadway-Seventh avenue I.R.T. subway train at the 191st station. Police said cards in her purse bore the name Helen Borchers and the address, 4 Abington avenue, Ardsley. Motorman Pat Cosgrove, 46, said he saw the woman plunge onto the tracks and said he could not stop the train until more than three cars had passed over the body. Power was shut off for 23 minutes.

Mayor's Plea

Mayor Newkirk's plea to the councilmen follows in full:

July 5, 1949

To: The Honorable Common Council of the City of Kingston.

I appear before you pursuant to Section 28 of the Charter of the City of Kingston to make a final appeal on behalf of the people of this City to your honorable body and to urge you to give your approval to the proposed housing project for the City of Kingston.

Shortly after assuming office on January 1, 1948 I took the necessary steps to have a public meeting in the Municipal Auditorium with various officials, including New York State Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichman, in order to give those who were interested in the local housing problem the opportunity to talk directly with New York State Housing officials, so that something could be worked out for the best interests of the City.

Subsequently I had several conferences with Commissioner Stichman and others and the Commissioner agreed to set aside enough money for a low rental housing project in Kingston.

On November 28, 1948 I appointed a Local Housing Authority, and the members thereof took the necessary measures to work out the details and spent many hours in securing the necessary information required by the State Housing Authority to determine whether a project could be approved for Kingston. Finally, on April 5, 1949, the State Housing Authority approved a project for Kingston.

As you know, the proposed housing project would furnish 100 modern apartments in garden-type two story brick residences, which will be most attractive in appearance, beautifully landscaped and under the management of the Kingston Housing Authority, which will select the tenants. The estimated cost of $1,200,000 will be financed by the State Housing Authority over a 50 year period from the rentals and the state's annual subsidy of $42,000. The new structures would be tax free during that period, but the City would receive as much in taxes as it now collects from the property to be acquired.

On April 5th, 1949 the application for the low rental housing project was submitted to your honorable body for your consideration with a recommendation that a Public Hearing be held before any action be taken. In order that everyone could be informed on any points that they desired, it was arranged to have representatives of the state present at the hearing on April 12, 1949.

After the public hearing and after much public discussion, the proposal was defeated on May 10, 1949, because the Democrat members refused to vote in favor of the project.

At that meeting the Democrat aldermen proposed that the city build houses on city-owned lots throughout the city for eventual sale to tenants. This proposal was made in face of the fact that the city does not own desirable building sites throughout the city. In addition, the State Housing Authority has no legal right to get into the private contracting business.

On June 7, 1949 the housing project was again voted upon and again defeated by your honorable body because the Democrat members again refused to vote. At that meeting, the Democrat members of the Council proposed that the matter be decided at public referendum, notwithstanding that there is no authority in the law to permit such a public referendum. The law requires that the housing project be either approved or rejected by the legislative body of the city, which is the Common Council.

The State Housing Authority has announced that the $1,200,000 allocated to the Kingston Housing Project will be withdrawn and allocated to some other city if your honorable body does not approve the project by July 15, 1949.

No one questions that we have a housing shortage in Kingston. Such shortage adversely affects the lives, welfare, health and happiness of our people. Indeed, such shortage is one of the factors which is retarding the industrial growth of this city. In a recent circular, the Kingston Chamber of Commerce warned that "As far as new industries are concerned, lack of satisfactory buildings and a shortage of rental housing are serious drawbacks."

Another serious problem facing us is the mounting unemployment, particularly among men. Almost 2,000 local people are now on the unemployment insurance rolls and many more are out of work.

A housing project will not only provide adequate and decent homes for 100 of our families; it will not only attract more industry to Kingston, but it will also provide employment for many who are now idle, and it will stimulate business generally throughout the city.

Gentlemen, I plead with you on behalf of the men, women and children who need these homes. I plead with you on behalf of the general industrial growth of the city, which means so much to all of us. I plead with you on behalf of the unemployed who would find gainful work at good wages in building these homes to approve this project so that Kingston may proudly take its place alongside her sister cities of the state which have already served their people by building many housing projects for the well-being of their cities and their people.

I, and the Local Housing Authority, have done everything in our power to secure a low rent housing project for Kingston.

You, the Democrat members of the Common Council, have refused to vote on this important piece of legislation, although your party in the state and nations is committed to public housing.

As I have pointed out the allocated moneys for the project in Kingston will be withdrawn if the plan is not approved by July 15, 1949. It is needless for me to say that unless you, the Democratic aldermen, reconsider your previous action, the city of Kingston will not have a low cost housing project and 100 homes for 100 Kingston families and work for many unemployed will be lost.

You have failed to vote on the question and thereby the responsibility for the failure of a low rent housing project for the city of Kingston rests on your shoulders and yours alone.

I hereby request that you reconsider your previous action and vote on the low rental housing application. Under the rules of the Common Council, a motion to reconsider cannot be made by the six Republican aldermen who voted in favor of the project. It can only be made by Alderman Martin or the six Democratic aldermen. It is therefore your responsibility to act.

OSCAR V. NEWKIRK,
Mayor of the City of Kingston.

CURIOUS BRIDGE PARTY CUSTOM

The custom described in the following letter is by no means new to me: "A cousin of ours, a most charming and socially prominent person who came on a visit has upset us very much by her astonishment at a custom in our community, which is the giving of the prizes won at a card party to the guest of honor. Now that she has pointed this out, several of us have decided to ask you whether or not she is correct. If she is, we don't know how to go about changing a practice that is of long standing. Wouldn't we be considered selfish by other people if we all of a sudden begin keeping the prizes we win at these parties?

I agree with your visitor in finding the practice that the winners be obliged to surrender prizes completely unfair, but I also know that it would be very difficult for any one hostess to change an accepted custom. The only suggestion that I can make when the prizes are intended for the guest of honor is to give them to her without going through the pretense of playing for them. Of course, there may be an angle to this local custom which I do not know about. But to me it is exactly like expecting a champion tennis or golf player to default in favor of a visiting player.

Removing Dishes

Dear Mrs. Post: In removing the dishes from the table after the main course, which ones should be taken off first?

Answer: Although there is no definite rule, it is most natural to take the big platter off first, then the vegetable dishes and then the individual plates. But if the individual plates happen to be unappetizingly messy, these would be taken first.

Belated Announcement Proper

Dear Mrs. Post: I've been wearing an engagement ring for some months but only my family and intimate friends know about my engagement. Will it be proper for my parents to announce it now? Or is it too late?

Answer: A notice to the society editor of your newspaper would be correct. An announcement party may quite properly be given even though most of those present already know the news.

How to give the engagement announcement to the newspapers is explained by Mrs. Post in leaflet, E-1. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Must Show Charms

Hollywood, July 6 (AP)—In fairness to the public, which has an eye for such things, Universal-International studio is requiring its charming young things to display their charms. While starting actresses are willing enough to be the subject of "cheesecake art", as it's called, after they attain higher salaries, they often get the idea it's beneath their dignity, the studio has found. Public-spirited Universal-International decided to dignify bathing suit poses by writing "cheesecake" clauses in its contracts. The clause requires that any young lady with charms to display shall do so for publicity pictures for the first five years of her contract. First signatory to the pact is Peggie Castle, a green-eyed blonde with undeniable charms.

Little Gardens Club Hears Paper on Area Pioneer Women

Little Gardens Club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John H. Saxe, West Hurley. The paper for the afternoon was presented by Mrs. William Niles and was entitled Sarah Wells Bull. She was called the "Maid of Waywayanda," because she was the first white woman to settle the Waywayanda Patent, consisting of 160,000 acres situated in Orange and Sullivan counties.

Sarah Wells Bull came to America as one of the early pioneers and owned and operated a farm by herself in Orange county prior to her marriage. After her marriage she helped her husband build their home in 1722. The house is still standing on the road between Newburgh and the county seat of Goshen. It is now owned by New York state and is under the direction of the curators.

Following the presentation of the paper a musical program was given as follows: piano numbers, Rondo Caprioso by Mendelssohn; and Staccato Caprice, Max Vogrich; played by Mrs. Bertrand Bishop. Vocal solos, Thoughts of Spring, Edna Earle Dunlap and Poor Man's Garden, Kennedy Russell, sung by Mrs. G. Alfred Nussbaum; and Calling You, Frank Grey; and Fickle Little Butterfly, H. Wakefield Smith, sung by Mrs. G. A. Nussbaum Sr.

Mrs. Arthur Quimby gave a demonstration of flower arrangements.

During the business meeting Miss Ruth Waterbury of Hurley was welcomed as a new member. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting, July 15, will be at the home of Mrs. John Gill, Hurley.

Won't Remain Reds

Honolulu, July 6 (AP)—An American former adviser to the Chinese government says China will not remain Communist "unless there is a Russian soldier behind every Chinese." Richard Budar, who advised the Chinese Ministry of Social Affairs, blamed China's chaos on "family quarrels" among Nationalist leaders. He just arrived in Honolulu after three years in China. He cited a rift in Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's family after Chiang sent his oldest son to "clean up" Shanghai last summer. "Young Chiang lit out of town as soon as his stepmother, Madame Chiang, showed up," Budar said. He said U. S. aid to the Nationalists totaled $4,000,000,000 dollars since V-J Day and charged it had been "misappropriated."

Gopher Balls Haunt Colonials In 10-2 Trouncing by Stamford

Cauvel Yields One; Riescher Gives Two

The Colonials experienced acute gopher ball trouble in Stamford last night as Emil Moscowitz, former New York Yankee batting practice hurler, pitched and batted the Pioneers to a convincing 10-2 victory.

Larry Cauvel, who was charged with the loss, and reliefer Ray Riescher yielded a trio of four-ply wallops, one a grand slammer by catcher Charlie Faughnan.

Danny Perlmutter hit his first homer of the campaign for the Colonials in the fifth inning.

Fall in Pinches

The Colonials reached Moscowitz for 10 hits, including three by Allan Thomaier, but they couldn't do much with the wily ex-Bushwick when hits meant runs.

Moscowitz doubled home two runs in the fourth and then opened the sixth inning with a line drive homer off Ray Reischer. After two were out, first baseman Carl Bush exploded the second homer of the inning over the scoreboard in right field.

Catcher Faughnan celebrated a birthday with his fifth inning grand slam. Cauvel, who was raked for the second straight outing, walked Callahan and Scotty Kaproski after Pavone's single to load the sacks and Faughnan promptly unloaded them.

Perlmutter's homer was a 350-foot blast over the left center field wall. Gerald Murray accounted for Kingston's first marker in the fourth when he singled, stole second and rode home on Ralph Matzer's single.

The victory was Moscowitz's ninth against three defeats. Cauvel now has a 4-4 record.

The series concludes tonight following which the Colonials return home for a two-game set against Waterbury starting Thursday night.

Colonial Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

Bridgeport and Stamford remained locked in their bitter struggle for first place in the Colonial League today but pressure on both of them by Bristol had eased up a bit.

Bridgeport mauled Poughkeepsie 10-1 last night as Stamford kept pace by downing Kingston, 9-2. Bristol, however, was defeated by Waterbury, 7-3, and fell two games behind the first place Bees and one behind Stamford. The Pioneers hold the best position in the league standing, however, having lost only 25 games, Bridgeport has lost 26 while Bristol has dropped 28.

Frick Wins 11th

Phil Frick held Poughkeepsie to three hits as Bridgeport became the first team in the league to win 40 games this season. Frick's 11th victory was salted away in the opening inning when George Handy, Bridgeport's Negro second baseman, hit his 20th home run of the season for three runs.

Manager Al Barillari once again proved himself a one-man team as Bristol bowed to Waterbury. The skipper started out catching but shed his shin guards in the eighth to become relief pitcher.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

By The Associated Press

By JOE REICHLER

The youngest of the great DiMaggio clan, although enjoying his best year in baseball, has been shoved into the background by the electrifying comeback of big Joe.

It was the other way around last night. It was Joe who faded into the background despite his double, single and two walks in four times at bat for the New York Yankees.

He took a back seat to his kid brother Dom, who walloped a home run and triple and scored two runs to lead the Red Sox to a 4-2 triumph over the Yankees. This helped the Red Sox snap an eight-game losing streak. In addition, Dom made the fielding play of the game, coming up with a brilliant running one-handed catch of leadoff batter Phil Rizzuto's bid for a triple in the eighth. Since two walks followed, Dom's catch definitely saved the game for Boston.

McDermott Wins

While Dom was supplying the fireworks, Maurice (Mickey) McDermott, a 20-year-old southpaw, limited the Yankees to four hits to win his third game since joining the Red Sox several weeks ago. His only defeat came at the hands of the Yankees, 5-4, in Boston. McDermott fanned seven and walked eight. He pitched scoreless ball after the second inning. Ed Lopat was the loser.

It was Boston's first victory in their last six games with the league leaders, and cut the Yankees' margin over the idle, runner-up Philadelphia Athletics to four games.

Indians Climb

The third place Cleveland Indians advanced to within six games of the Yankees, drubbing the Tigers in Detroit, 8-1. Frank Papish, making his second start for Cleveland, gained his first victory with a seven-hitter. Joe Gordon led a 16-hit attack against three Bengal hurlers with two singles and his 13th home run. He drove in three. Dale Mitchell and Larry Doby also cracked three safeties apiece. Marv Grissom was the loser.

The St. Louis Browns came up with six runs in the seventh inning to defeat the Chicago White Sox, 9-5. Paul Lehner singled with the bases loaded to drive in two runs, and when catcher Joe Tipton let the throw home get away from him, then threw wild to third, everybody scored. Joe Ostrowski was the winner and Bill Wight the loser. Luke Appling hit a triple and two singles for the losers.

Cards Edge Cubs

The second place St. Louis Cardinals cut Brooklyn's National League lead to one game, winning a 10-inning 2-1 game from Chicago while the Philadelphia Phils whipped the Dodgers, 7-2.

Singles by Red Schoendienst and Marty Marion, and Stan Musial's fielder'schoice accounted for the winning run in the 10th. Musial cut down the potential tying run in the last half of the 10th with a fine throw home. Howie Pollet, who relieved starter Harry Brecheen in the seventh, was credited with his 10th victory. Bob Rush went all the way to be charged with his 10th loss for the Cubs.

Ken Heintzelman, veteran Philly southpaw, allowed seven hits in racking up his 10th victory and his fourth straight over the Dodgers. Joe Hatten was kayoed by a six-run blast in the first inning. Gran Hammer smacked two doubles and Bob Blattner homered for the winners.

Whitfield, Peterman Enter KPBA Regatta

National Outboard Stars Here Sunday

Don Whitfield, former Class M champion, and Gil Peterman, well known Malverne, N. Y., outboard pilot are among the latest "name" entries for the annual Kingston Power Boat Association Regatta on the Rondout, Sunday, July 10.

Whitfield, a perennial visitor to the Rondout, was dethroned in Florida last winter by Eleanor Shakeshaft of White Plains, N. Y. Miss Shakeshaft will head a field of outstanding female entries in this year's putt-putt classic.

A mother-daughter combination was entered yesterday from White Plains, home-town of Miss Shakeshaft. They are Mrs. Caroline Perkins and her 15-year-old daughter, Jean Perkins. Miss Perkins made an excellent showing at Germantown last week in one of the roughest courses ever encountered by midget hydroplane.

Wotowitz Entered

Peterman, a standout in the Class A hydroplane division, has captured practically every regatta of note at one time or another in his specialty. Also entered is Joe Wotowitz of Hartford, Conn., who is one of the few A pilots able to give Peterman any serious competition this season. The two tied for top honors in Class A last year on the Rondout.

Harry Dearborn of Springfield has filed his entry and is expected to prove a serious contender in Class A. Then in Class B and C there are old favorites like Emil Mayer and Joe Stager to force Vic Scott to look to his laurels.

Morgan's Victims In City League

Percy Greene, of baseball fame, delivered a grand slam pinch hit home run to furnish the margin for Wiltwyck Motors' 8 to 6 victory over Morgan's Restaurant in a loosely played game yesterday at the Athletic Field.

Greene's blast sailed over the left field fence around the 350-foot mark in the sixth inning when the Motormen were clinging to a precarious 3-2 lead.

Morgan's staged a desperate seventh inning rally with four runs but fell two short of tying the score. A pair of errors by Ronnie Scheffel with the bases loaded provided three unearned runs.

Newkirk Wins

The Motormen reeled off their second straight win of the second round behind Bill Newkirk who permitted six hits, fanned seven and walked five. Loose fielding got him into a few jams in the late innings.

Morgan's on the other hand committed six bobbles behind Hokie Tomson, Mike Rienzo being the chief offender with three. Maxon had two costly bobbles at second base.

Newkirk had a no-hitter, for four innings when Brinkman got a scratch hit to deep short and Rienzo and Dulin followed with successive doubles for two runs.

Greene's grand slam was set up when Lay singled, Kaman walked and Maxon fumbled Scheffel's grounder. Greene wasted no time, wafting the second pitch over the barrier.

Brinkman and Rienzo each had two hits for the losers, while Sickler poled two for Wiltwycks. For his home run, Greene receives $5 in cash donated by the Central Rec. Roller Rink, a carton of cigarettes by Len Sickler and a quart of ice cream by Ambrose Brothers.

McCahan Optioned

Philadelphia, July 6 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics today announced the optioning of pitcher Bill McCahan to the Buffalo Bisons of the International League.

Legion Tryouts Started Today

Tryouts for all boys under 17 years of age interested in the American Legion junior baseball team were scheduled to start at 4 p. m. today at municipal stadium. Kingston Post No. 150 will sponsor a team assisted by George Shivery of Old Capital Motors. All players interested are invited to attend the workout.

Charles to Meet Gus Lesnevich

New York, July 6 (AP)—Maybe Ezzard Charles can't carry Joe Louis' gloves but he's beating the Brown Bomber's track record for a first title defense.

The lean young negro from Cincinnati who won the N.B.A. share of Louis' vacated heavyweight championship at Chicago June 22, has agreed to defend his crown August 10 against Gus Lesnevich, the former world light heavyweight king.

New York's Yankee Stadium will be the site of the 15-round bout to be held only 49 days after Charles won the crown by outpointing old Jersey Joe Walcott.

Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission which insists on a "tournament" to determine the heavyweight champion, said he would not recognize it as a title fight. Thus Charles will be making the first defense of his N.B.A. crown in a non-N.B.A. state that doesn't recognize his right to the throne.

You can expect Jake Mintz, Ezzy's voluble manager, to carry a stiff vocal attack to Eagan's ears. Jake says he'll ask for an open hearing from Eagan to prove his "Tiger's" right to the title.

Leventhal Wins Flag Tourney

A quasi-retired bowling star who took up the game of golf at an advanced age (golf age, that is) won the Fourth of July Flag tournament at Wiltwyck Golf Club.

The aspiring linksman—Reuben Leventhal—reached the apron of the 21st green in his alloted number of strokes. Playing his best game of the season, Leventhal put together rounds of 42-39 for an 81.

The 21st hole achieved by Leventhal represents the farthest any golfer has gone in this type of tournament in several years.

A three-way tie with the ball in the cup on the 19th green existed among Ray LeFevre, Maurice Davenport and Dr. C. B. Van Gaasbeek.

A. J. Anderson's ball came to rest two inches from the cup on the 19th green, edging out Jim Winters by a mere six inches. Other golfers to pass the 18th green were Jack Garon, W. R. McClements, Lou Bruhn, Ad Schultz and Leon Randall.

Newkirk Posts 70

Bill Newkirk shot the best golf of the week-end for a par-70 in the blind bogey sweepstakes. He fired rounds of 37 and 33, ringing up five birdies, and scoring two successive birdies on the difficult "dog-leg" par-5 sixth hole.

Newkirk's card:

Par Out—	434	445	434—35
Newkirk Out—	445	444	345—37
Par In—	434	445	434—35
Newkirk In—	424	434	534—33

Trailing Newkirk in the blind bogey were Art Jansen, Jack Schomer, Ray LeFevre, Bill Schaffrick, A. J. Anderson and H. Van Wyck Darrow.

Charles Arnold and Dick Davenport turned in net 50s to tie for first place in Saturday's best-selected-15-holes play.

A quadruple tie for second place included Lou Bruhn, Jack Garon, J. W. Bailey and Ad Schultz with 51. Charles Vogel shot a net 52.

Qualifying Play

The qualifying round for the annual club championship was completed over the week-end and the Wiltwyck handicap committee is busily engaged in making the pairings which will be announced in time to start match play over the coming week-end.

The defending club champion is Maurice Davenport, who is also city champion.

Gardella Case Set in November

New York, July 6 (AP)—The court of baseball's legal structure is now scheduled for November.

Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard announced yesterday he was giving Danny Gardella's $300,000 damage suit against the game's officials a priority fall hearing.

Gardella, the onetime New York Giant outfielder who was banished from organized baseball in 1946 for jumping to the Mexican League, is challenging the sport's reserve clause.

He contends the clause, which binds a player to a club for life or until the club disposes of him, violates the anti-trust laws.

George Kell's .348 Tops American Loop

Chicago, July 6 (AP)—George Kell, Detroit third baseman who got off the injury list last week-end, heads American League batters by 18 percentage points with a .348.

Recent graduates at the Cottekill school were Geraldine Quick, Arthur Freer and Eleanor Conner.

Mrs. Burnett Wins Flag Tournament

Mrs. Charles E. Burnett won the July 4th Ladies' Flag tournament at Wiltwyck Golf Club.

Playing with a handicap of 8, she reached the eleventh green in the 9-hole tournament. Mrs. Ivan Whitmore took second place when her ball came to rest in a trap alongside the 11th green.

Mrs. Maurice Davenport reached the cup on the 10th hole, while Mrs. Stanley Hankinson's ball stopped on the lip of the cup on the tenth.

Miss Agnes Kennedy, Mrs. James Winters and Mrs. George Rifenbary also played well in placing their tee shots well down the 10th fairway.

Will Try to Go Through

Hong Kong, July 6 (AP)—The 3,900 ton Panamanian vessel Garoufalia today cleared for the Communist held port of Chingwangtao as the first northbound vessel to try to run the Nationalist blockade. An all foreign crew was aboard. Thirty-eight Chinese crewmen were replaced by foreigners here. Shipping men said Nationalists would be less likely to interfere with a foreign operated ship. Her agents are the Norwegian firm of Wallem and Company.

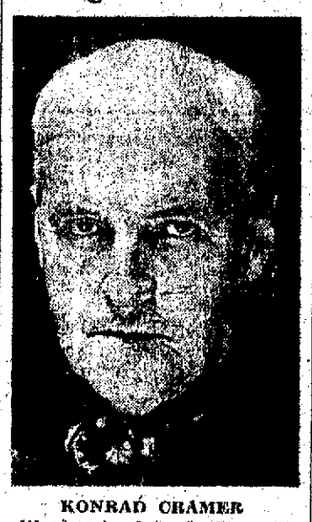
Begins Classes



KONRAD CRAMER

Woodstock, July 6—Classes in design and a variety of the crafts under the direction of the well-known local artist and craftsman, Konrad Cramer, began this week at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen. He plans to emphasize design and personal expression as well as the techniques of using tools and materials in metal work, block printing, textiles, etc.

Cramer came to America in 1911, became a citizen and settled in Woodstock. Prior to making his home in this country, he studied fine and applied art in Germany, England and France. His first exhibition in America was at the McDowell Club. Two other artists showed with him in which he states was "the first exhibition of abstract painting in New York."

He has designed textiles for Cheney, Mallinson, Marshall Field and others and, under a Rockefeller grant, went to Europe to make a survey of the educational methods used in training industrial designers and craftsmen.

His teaching background includes the Helen Parkhurst's Children's University School where he was director of the art department for several years. He taught lithography, etching and the technique in painting in the Woodstock School of painting; opened the Woodstock School of Photography in 1936, and started the first course given in photography at any American College, at Bard.

In 1938, under a Rockefeller grant and the auspices of the Museum of Natural History, Cramer collected material from the entire field of American Indian Art. Many of the photographs taken in connection with this work, were used in the book "Indian Arts in North America" by George Vaillant, published by Harper and Brothers.

An exhibition entitled "Pioneers of Modern Art in America" hung in 1947 at the Whitney Museum, included several Cramer canvasses of Abstractions done prior to 1912. His work is represented with photographs, drawings, and paintings at the Whitney and Metropolitan Museums and the Museum of Modern Art.

Films Planned

Woodstock, July 6—A special showing of three films, "Matisse," "Maillol" and Charlie Chaplin in the "Champion," will be given at the Woodstock Art Gallery, Saturday, July 9, at 8:30 p. m., under the sponsorship of the Woodstock Artists Association. The public is cordially invited.

Annual Meeting

Woodstock, July 6—The annual meeting to elect directors and officers will be held by the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., Saturday, July 9, at 7:30 p. m. in the Odd Fellows Hall, Bearsville.

Thurber Show Will Stay Until July 7

Woodstock, July 6—Two sales of paintings have been reported by Edna Thurber who is currently exhibiting 28 paintings at the Town House. The one-man show will continue through July 7, and may be seen daily from 9 a. m. to 12 midnight.

The paintings are Sweet Peas, An August Afternoon, Bowl of Flowers, Bouquet of Flowers, Little Gypsy, By the Stream, Flowers in Sunlight, Old Woodstock, Still Life, Zinnias, Dogwood, Flower Study, Homeward Bound, At the Foot of the Mountain, Winter Landscape, Woodstock Village, Windy Day, Girl Reclining, Ohio Mountain, The Huntress, Summer Landscape, Portrait of Man, Autumn Trees, Gathering Storm, Moonlight, Snow Scene, Beeches, and Summer.

Marbrook Paintings Open at Gallery

Woodstock, July 6—An exhibition of 12 paintings representing the work of Juanita Marbrook opened Monday night at the Mitchell Gallery and will continue through July 17. Miss Marbrook has painted in North Africa and America and held several exhibitions in this country but is showing for the first time in Woodstock.

In a recent exhibition at the Barnett Aden Gallery, Washington, D. C., her work was described in the Washington Sunday Star as having "an imaginary realm all her own. Instead of having the fantastic dislocations and grotesque lunacies of surrealism, Miss Marbrook's paintings convey the general unrealities of a dream, which seem perfectly normal until one awakens and thinks them over."

Included are She Had Many Faces, Memories of an Elephant, And They Lived by the Sea, On the Street of Chance, Women on Horseback, Conversation by Lamplight, Evening, Dangers in the Moonlight, Children with Balloons (collection of Alonzo J. Aden), Two Women by the Sea, On Horseback (collection of Miss Marie McCall), and Fortune Tellers.

The public is invited to visit the gallery daily except Thursday from 2 to 5 p. m. and 8 to 9 p. m.

Artists Plan Third Open Exhibition

Woodstock, July 6—The third exhibition of the season to be sponsored by the Woodstock Artists Association at the Art Gallery will be an open show beginning July 8 and continuing to July 20.

This is a non-jury show and work in all mediums will be accepted but only one entry for each artist. All work must meet size limitation under 30 inches including frame and must be delivered to the Gallery on July 7.

The first group show which opened June 24 and includes drawings, paintings, gouaches, and small sculpture will close today.

Brahms Music Is Featured at First Maverick Concert

Woodstock, July 6—The beautiful strains of Brahms Trio in C Minor, opus 101, in four parts played by Inez Carroll, pianist; Alfio Pignotti, violinist, and Horace Britt, cellist, opened the 34th season of the Maverick Sunday concerts in the Maverick Concert Hall on Sunday afternoon.

In spite of the intense heat, more than 200 music lovers were present to enjoy the opening composition and the well chosen cello solos played by Horace Britt accompanied by Inez Carroll. Piece en Forme de Habanera by Maurice Ravel was obviously best liked by the audience which through its unusual applause caused the artist to take several bows before continuing with his other selections which included Lied Opus 19 by Vincent D'Indy; Sicilienne, Gabriel Faure; Romance in D Major, Opus 51, Saint Saens; and Intermezzo, Edouard Lalo.

As a tribute to the memory of Miss Alice M. Owens who, prior to her death a few weeks ago, had been an ardent patron of the Maverick Concert group and had not missed a concert there in 32 years, the trio played Faure's "Eulogie."

Pierre Henrotte, director, a noted violinist and conductor, welcomed the large audience. Among other things, he told them of the necessity to preserve the horse, sculptured from a tree which marks the entrance to the road leading to the Maverick Concert Hall and theatre, and asked for suggestions to prevent disintegration of the treasured piece.

The concerts will continue each Sunday at 4 p. m. throughout the summer season.

Paintings numbering 18, all abstractions by local artist, Austin Mecklem, were on exhibition. Considerable interest was shown in the unusual color combinations and designs used in the compositions.

6,000 Persons See Legion Fireworks

Woodstock, July 6—An efficient and amazing job of parking was handled Sunday night by the Woodstock Legionnaires when about 6,000 persons in 1,500 automobiles turned out for the gigantic fireworks display which took place in the open fields between Woodstock and Bearsville under the sponsorship of the American Legion, Woodstock Post 1026.

Most impressive was the solemn ceremony conducted by Joseph Friedberg, acting commander; John Wolven, commander; William Klippel, Irwin Holumzer and P.F.C. Einer Rasmussen, Jr., for the destruction of worn and torn flags. The flags were carefully inspected by those in charge before the burning took place. Bob Browning, as narrator, described the regulations which must be strictly adhered to on such an occasion.

The Legionnaires had the invaluable assistance of State Trooper Ray Dunn and others acting in an official capacity to keep the heavy holiday traffic moving and to prevent accidents. Fire Chief Reggie Lapo and his volunteer firemen stood by in case of an emergency.

Chairman Friedberg and his large committee were highly complimented on the successful event given for the benefit of the local Legion post.

Parker, Kniffin Tie For Calcutta Honors

Woodstock, July 6 — Floyd Parker and Vance Kniffin tied for first place in a net score of 219 and Walter Seaton and Frank McCahill tied for second with a net of 220, to win the $500 purse awarded for the annual 54-hole Calcutta Sweepstakes tournament during the week-end at the Woodstock Country Club.

Others competing in the tournament were Fred Allen, Anthony DeLisio, president; Anton Otto Fischer, Sandy Williams, Harold Mollin, Allen Waterous, Vincent Milora, Victor Allen, Martin Cantine, Boyer Gonzales, Harry Hohnhorst, Theodore King, Russel Olin, Irving Rathgeb, Dic Seaton, George and Margo Sprick and Julius Tamassey.

Festivities at the club were well attended during the holiday week-end with the young members, particularly, enjoying the dancing and swimming, and a display of fireworks Sunday evening.

At the annual president's dinner held in the Fall, Sweepstakes winners Parker and Kniffin will be presented with cups.

Motorist Fined

Woodstock, July 6—Maurice M. Berg, 31 Franklin place, Montclair, N. J., was arrested Friday evening by State Trooper Ray Dunn for illegal parking in the village and fined $10. by Justice of the Peace George J. Braendly.

Ashokan Outslugs Hunter Nine, 21-20

Ashokan scored a run in the top of the thirteenth inning to edge Hunter, 21-20, in a slugfest Sunday on the mountain town diamond.

The winners collected 21 hits off three Hunter pitchers, including a ninth inning homer by Jake Klosterman which tied the score at 20-20 and sent the teams into extra innings. Klosterman was also the winning hurler after relieving Davis in the eighth. Hasbrouck poled a double and two triples for Hunter.

The score:

	R	H	E
Ashokan 214 011 731 000 1	21	21	4
Hunter 000 574 400 000 0	20	17	5

Jackie Robinson Has Big Bulge With .362

New York, July 6 (AP)—Unless he goes into a sudden tailspin, Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson looks like a shoo-in to win the National League's batting title.

Under no pressure at all from any of his rivals, Robinson enjoys a 24-point lead at the halfway mark, with a batting average of .362.

A week ago, Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh's slugging outfielder, gave indication that he might give Robby a battle as he vaulted from fifth to second place with a 24-point gain. However, Kiner slowed up during the past week and fell to third with his .336.

Al (Red) Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals regained second place by two points with a .338 figure.

Eight Reds Injured

Seoul, July 6 (AP)—The Korean Defense Ministry said today eight Russian soldiers were injured in recent fighting on Ongjin peninsula, north of Seoul. The ministry said its information was from a reliable source. United Nations officials, who interviewed North Koreans captured in the peninsula fighting, said they had not been able to establish that any Russians have been involved in fighting. Casualties in the peninsula skirmishing have been reported in the hundreds by the South Koreans.

Council Approves

task and they are now able to resume their normal duties."

Referred to the traffic control committee with a request for early action was a resolution based on a petition with 280 signatures of 10th Ward residents asking for alleviation of a "dangerous condition," on Henry and Cedar streets, where, the petition said, traffic has been proceeding at a "rapid pace."

The petition asked that action be taken "not only in the Common Council, but also with the police department." The resolution was submitted by Tenth Ward Alderman James J. Carroll.

Traffic measures approved following report of the committee were on 13th Ward Alderman Charles Cole's request for "silent" policemen at Wilbur avenue and South Wall street, and Wilbur avenue and the road leading to the abandoned quarry.

Another approved restricting parking for "one hour only" on both sides of Grand street from Hasbrouck avenue to the intersection of Prince street and Grand street, and others called for establishment of loading zones at the warehouse of Moe Solomon, Ferry street and Hasbrouck avenue and in front of Meyers Electrical Supply store on East Strand.

Green street from the intersection of Green and Crown streets in a "northwesterly direction" will be a one-way street as a result of the council's action, and one of the approved recommendations calls for replacing the present sign at Clinton avenue and Main street, with an "electrical stop light to be synchronized with the stop-and-go signal at Clinton avenue and Pearl street to show red only."

Also approved was a regulation for "no parking anytime" on Cornell street in front of the Kingsley Fashion building, and it was recommended that the Board of Public Works investigate the possibility of rounding the southeast corner of East Chester street at Broadway and report its findings to the committee.

A proposal by Henry Singer, president of the Downtown Business Men's Association, asked that parking meters be installed on a section of lower Broadway.

Meters Are Asked

A letter on this said that now that the portion of Broadway between the Strand and Abeel street has been widened, merchants on the west side of Broadway would like parking meters installed instead of "no parking" signs.

An Alderman Kelder resolution on a request for a loading zone in front of the Crown Blouse Co., Crown street, and one by Alderman Carroll asking a parking regulation in front of 129 Cedar street, were referred to the Traffic Control Committee. The resolution said the Cedar street location is to be used for taxi purposes by Warren Powell.

The council adopted a report of its special committee which favored including in the 1950 budget a provision to use city schoool yards for playgrounds. The committee was appointed following a request by Alderman Carroll for the use of a school yard in his ward as a playground.

The committee said it had met with the building committee of the Board of Education which stressed that supervision would be necessary and no money had been provided for the purpose. It also emphasized that the proposal represented a function of the city's recreation department.

A proposal seeking to have the New York Central Railroad to discontinue its practice of stopping trains at the South Clinton avenue and South Prospect street crossings was referred to the Railroad and Bus Committee.

The Alderman Carroll resolution asked that the Public Service Commission be requested to direct the railroad to discontinue the practice and install "electric signal blinker lights" or some other adequate form of protection at the crossings.

The Public Service Commission had directed a hearing on protection for the crossing, the resolution said, and prior to airing the problem, agreed last September on stopping the trains on a trial basis.

Now, the resolution said, the starting and stopping at the crossings causes vibrations and noise, is "deleterious to effect on health" and there have been numerous complaints. It charged that the railroad is reluctant to discontinue stopping the trains in preference to another measure for protection.

Seventh Ward Alderman Thomas F. Coughlin's resolution on "smoke nuisances," asked that Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly "be instructed by this body to take immediate steps to halt nuisances now existent," and to "draft legislation whereby the creation of such facts may be discouraged and the existence of such facts may be remedied."

Alderman Coughlin, who said he had received many complaints, arising largely from the Forst Packing Company plant on Abeel street, recently called a public hearing at which a committee of eight was appointed to investigate.

Last night's resolution said that "Whereas factories, manufacturing plants and business establishments have installed or may install equipment for the purpose of furnishing heat, light and power and disposing of waste and trash," and since this "may disperse smoke, soot, cinders, ashes and offensive and nauseating odors," his suggested action was necessary.

Bothered by Stench

The alderman said that while complaints in recent weeks have been largely because of smoke from the downtown plant, residents of the area "for the past 20 years," have been bothered by a stench. He said he had learned of ways in which this can be eliminated and while he did not want to "tell the Forst Company how to run its business," it appeared that it was possible to eliminate such menaces. His resolution was seconded by Second Ward Alderman John Dawkins.

A letter from City Assessor Winfield Swart informing the council that two exemptions amounting to $4,500 had been omitted from the 1949-50 school tax roll, was referred to the Laws and Rules committee.

They were on a property of the Franklin Street Methodist Episcopal Conference, 40-42 Franklin street, at $3,000, and 163-169 Tammany street, John and Mabel Arolan at $1,500.

The letter said an extension in total tax valuation amounting to $3,000 is to be corrected, and that the three items involved will decrease the tax valuation by $7,500.

The corporation counsel informed the councilmen that no action for permit of the Miron Lumber Co., to construct a railroad siding, is necessary because the property involved is owned by the company. Application for the permit was made at the June meeting.

The council granted Police Chief Raymond Van Buren permission to attend the New York State Chiefs of Police Association conference at Niagara Falls on July 26, 27 and 28.

A claim for $182.82 filed by Mrs. John Miller, 281 Albany avenue, was allowed. It was for damage caused by stoppage in a sewer line.

Allowed also was one for $35 filed by the United Pharmacy, 324 Wall street, for damage done to a sign by a city power shovel during the rebuilding of Wall street.

a result it was learned that the firm had mixed materials at the creek and permitted the tank to overflow, allowing poisonous substances to enter the water.

Announcement of payment of the fine was made today by the local office of the Conservation Department.

Hiss Case to Jury

New York, July 6 (AP)—A federal judge today refused to dismiss two perjury charges against Alger Hiss and ordered the case to go to the jury. The jury of 10 men and two women will begin deliberating the fate of the former State Department official tomorrow afternoon.

Kingston on the Hudson

When Henry Hudson sailed the blue
In sixteen hundred and nine;
It was on the good ship "Half Moon,"
That he took his crew so fine.

'Twas seventeen score, that is, in years,
On the eleventh day of September
Since the "Half Moon" sailed the new-found stream
Which Hank named, as we remember.

In the hills near Lake Champlain we find
The mighty Hudson claims its source,
And it reaches the Great Atlantic
As it travels its southerly course.

In the Valley of the Hudson
Nestled down among the hills,
Is our pretty city—Kingston,
Which us its beauty thrills.

Long, long ago the Redskins—
Algonquins trod this land;
Followed by the Dutch and British
With conflicts on every hand.

But now the times have changed somewhat,
Peace and contentment reign;
From its multitudes of treasures
There is much for us to gain.

The scenery it affords is what
All artists love to print;
With its historic buildings
Which are so very quaint.

Courtesy and friendliness
In Kingston does prevail;
Our neighbors come from far and near
By auto and by rail.

So here's to good old Kingston,
May you always rein supreme
In the Land of Peace and Plenty—
You're the answer to our dream.

—Mrs. R. L. Blass,
Kingston, N. Y.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

Good Defense Play Defeats Contract

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
American Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Recently I played in a duplicate game with Harry Lees of St. Louis at the Cavendish Club in New York, probably the most celebrated bridge club in the U. S. There the greatest players in the country play bridge.

Ed Cheronnet, tournament director of the club, told me that the members like to try various types of duplicate games. On one particular night they were playing a total point game, which is similar to rubber bridge. This is one of the few clubs in the country which runs that type of game. They usually have 11 or 12 tables.

The difference between total point and match point play is that in match point play, if you play a hand at four spades and another pair play the same hand at three no trump, making four, they will get the top score. In total point play the difference is only ten points, which means little or nothing. All you are interested in is your total score for the evening, but it is important not to miss any games or slams.

One of the peculiar things about watching an expert play is that occasionally he will be so accurate in watching the drop of the cards that he may be tricked into losing what otherwise would prove a safe contract. In today's hand for example, at total points, the expert will not go out on a limb and gamble on a no trump contract. He prefers to play the hand at a safe contract in hearts.

The opponents cashed the first three spade tricks. East returned the jack of diamonds, which declarer won. He entered dummy with a club, and led the six of hearts. If East had played the ten-spot, there would have been no story to the hand, but he played the king.

Now the expert thought to himself, there must be four hearts to the ten-spot in the West hand. To make his contract, he must not lose a heart trick. So he played a small heart to the jack-nine, finessed the nine which East won with the ten, and set the contract.

It won't work every time, but it pays to keep on your toes in the play of every card.

Shimoyama Dead

Tokyo, July 6 (AP)—Did President Sadanori Shimoyama of the Japan Railway Corporation commit suicide or was he murdered? That question today brought divided opinion. But most occupation and Japanese authorities felt Shimoyama was slain. Shimoyama disappeared after ordering the first 30,00 of 90,000 railway workers to be fired. He was following an order issued by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, to ease the cost of the occupation on Americans. Shimoyama's dismembered body body was found scattered along a railroad track. Its condition was such that it was difficult to ascertain whether he had been slain and placed on the track, left there unconscious or had ended his life beneath the wheels of a train.

Tag Days Slated By Volunteers in Kingston July 8-9

The Volunteers of America, 24 Barmann avenue, will conduct Tag Days in Kingston Friday and Saturday, July 8 and 9. Money from the sale of tags will be used locally.

Included in the work of the Volunteers of America, is the Day Nursery started in October of 1936. The nursery operates daily under a state welfare permit and has an average daily attendance of 25. The nursery is conducted for children whose mothers work during the day.

In addition, mission work also is conducted for the benefit of children who do not attend other churches.

The Volunteers also have emergency rooms for persons without other shelter, assist transient men with meals and also aid them in finding employment.

Besides the regular program, tentative plans are being made to operate a camp for underprivileged children in Ulster county this summer.

Captain and Mrs. Charles Brant are the officers in charge of the Volunteers of America in Kingston.

Veterans Entitled To Tax Exemptions

Veterans and their dependents who have been purchasing real property or making substantial improvements on real property with mustering-out pay, New York state bonus, disability compensation, proceeds of National Service Life Insurance, and certain other monies from the state and federal government, may be eligible to claim real property tax exemption, Howard Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency, stated today.

Claims for exemptions of the above nature must be presented to the board of assessors in the town or city in which the property is located on or before Grievance Day, which in most cases is the second Tuesday in August.

For information and assistance in filing a claim, it is suggested that those concerned call at the Agency Office, 32 Main street, or the branch offices in Saugerties, Ellenville, Highland and Kerhonkson.

To save glasses from being cracked during dishwashing, use a rubber mat at the bottom of sink or dishpan.
